Crop Prospects Improve Rail Outlook

C.P.R. Shareholders Told of Economies And Year's Earnings

Present Indications on Prairies Point to Wheat Crop of Between 400,000,000 and 500,000,000 Bushels, Says E. W. Beatty, President, at Meeting in Montreal

OFFICERS OF BIG SYSTEM RE-ELECTED

Montreal, May 4.—Prairie crop prospects are better at this season than at the corresponding time in any of the last three years, and a wheat crop of from 400,000,000 to 500,000,000 bushels might reasonably be anticipated, E. W. Beatty, president and chairman of the board of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, told the shareholders at the annual meeting here to-day.

The president reported drastic economies in the operation of the railroad and steamship services, in conformity with reduced earnings, but pointed out the condition of the company's property had been maintained unimpaired.

Officers and directors were re-elected and all reports adopted. John W. Hobbs of Toronto, president of the Consolidated Plate Glass Company, was elected to the directorate, to fill the vacancy left by the death of Sir Vincent Meredith.

GRAIN RATE

It will be within your knowledge that the mileage freight rates on grain, the principal product handled on your western lines, are substantially less than those with United States roads. It is permitted to charge, Mr. Beatty said, "over corresponding distances the rates charged in the United States range 30 per cent to 100 per cent greater than those charged in Canada. Wage scales in this country are relative to those in the United States; fuel costs are higher, and traffic density of class one freight in the United States is about 84 per cent greater than that of your company's. It is a tribute to the operating efficiency and to the financial policies of your company that the operating ratio reveals these handicaps have been overcome."

EARNINGS AND OUTLAYS
"An extraordinary decline of 367,323,000 in gross earnings since 1929 was offset by a reduction in operating expenses of $49,931,000, with the result that the operating ratio was only increased from 79.43 per cent in 1929 to 81.96 per cent in 1931. The company in 1931 earned its fixed charges, its preference dividend and 63 cents per share on its ordinary stock. Working assets at the close of the year were $63,879,835 and current liabilities $14,090,869, an excess of $49,788,966. The anticipated capital expenditures of approximately $4,000,000 for the year are materially less than those of previous years."

"The company's balance sheet shows the following principal changes from 1930: On the assets side the increase in railway rolling stock, lake and river steamers and hotels amounts to $30,494,072, made up of branch line construction, additions and improvements to main and branch lines, expenditures on leased and acquired lines and on rolling stock equipment. Your investment in ocean and coal steamships increased by $2,262,730, representing mainly the final payment on the Empress of Britain of $2,194,896. Acquired securities increased $12,191,916. Of that amount $5,512,000 is due to the capitalization of advances made to controlled properties. Advances to controlled properties decreased $12,162,255, due to the capitalization of advances above stated; and the transfer to prosperity investment of amounts advanced in excess of securities issued."

LAND FIGURES
"Assets in lands and properties decreased $3,462,797, due mainly to our practice of writing down the value of uncollected lands. Materials and supplies on hand decreased $3,962,710. Traffic balances decreased $1,521,094, largely due to the adjustment made in the Canadian Pacific Express accounts by the writing off of outstanding balances accrued against that company. Cash in hand decreased $14,806,478."

Coon, Orchestra Leader, Dies

Chicago, May 4.—Death came to-day to Carlton Coon, thirty-eight, and ended a thirteen-year partnership with Joe Sanders in the famous Coon-Sanders Orchestra—a partnership born of a music store meeting of two Great War soldiers and never broken in a rapid climb to fame. They were known to many radio listeners.

Coon died this morning of blood poisoning caused by an abscess in the jaw which developed mysteriously last month while he was directing the orchestra jointly with Sanders in a loop hotel here.

JAIL TERMS ARE ONE HOUR

Hawaii Governor Commutes Ten-year Sentences of Massie and Three Others

Mrs. Fortescue and Companions Escape Hard Labor Terms

Associated Press
Honolulu, May 4.—Prosecutor John C. Kelley announced to-day Governor Lawrence M. Judd had agreed to commute the sentences of the four United States citizens convicted of killing Joseph Kahahawai, native youth, to one hour's imprisonment each.

Meanwhile, in a surprise move, the four were each sentenced to ten years' imprisonment at hard labor in Oahu Prison here.

Under the law, Circuit Judge Charles S. Dancy was forced to give the maximum sentence of ten years on the verdict of guilty of manslaughter rendered last Friday by the racially mixed jury. The original charge was second degree murder.

It had been expected the defendants, Lieut. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother of Mrs. Massie, and the two enlisted navy men, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, would appear for sentence Friday.

At the trial Lieut. Massie admitted he held the revolver which shot Kahahawai, one of four young men of mixed races accused of assaulting Mrs. Massie. He testified Kahahawai had confessed he had shared in the attack.

Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel, set up a temporary insanity plea for Massie, which was disregarded by the jury.

SMALL BUYERS PURCHASE LOAN

Many Orders For Portions of City's Refunding Issue Received

More than $10,000 worth of the city's $200,000 refunding loan has been taken up in small amounts already, City Comptroller D. A. MacDonald announced this morning. Numerous orders for varying amounts are on hand.

Members of the council started the loan off on Monday night, four of the aldermen announcing they would subscribe. Applications for $4,000 and $5,000 lots had been made previously by private citizens.

Civic officials confidently expected that the full $200,000 would be taken up by the "over the counter" method. The treasury office will handle the loan all this month.

NOMINATED FOR MODERATOR

Vancouver, May 4.—Dr. T. Albert Moore of Toronto was nominated unanimously for the post of Moderator of the United Church of Canada by the Vancouver presbytery yesterday. Dr. Moore was for many years on the Dominion executive of the Methodist Church and has since the formation of the United Church in 1925 been its secretary.

Disastrous Fire In Nanaimo Suburb

Three Two-story Residences Demolished in Blaze To-day; Damage Estimated $8,000

Whole District Threatened Until Firefighters Brought Fire Under Control

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, May 4.—Fire broke out on Bruce Avenue, Five Acres, at 11:45 o'clock this morning threatening the whole district. Three two-story houses were completely demolished. A strong wind fanned the flames, causing the fire to spread from house to house. The blaze started in the home of Mrs. Alex. Campbell and spread to Mrs. McNulty's and Mr. Palmer's. All three homes were burned to the ground.

Volunteers were hard pressed to save other homes. A quantity of furniture was saved by willing helpers. The local fire brigade had the blaze under control at 12:30 p.m. The origin of the fire is unknown. The houses are outside the Nanaimo city district and do not come under fire protection, but the brigade responded to repeated calls for help. The damage is estimated at $8,000.

ROBERT DOLLAR SERIOUSLY ILL

San Rafael, Cal., May 4.—Melville Dollar, son of Capt. Robert Dollar, who was described by his physician yesterday as "a pretty sick man," was with his father here to-day after an airplane trip from Vancouver, B.C.

Capt. Dollar, who is eighty-eight years old, was taken ill last week. According to his physician, Dr. R. G. Duffrey, the veteran shipper is suffering from a cold complicated by recurrence of an intestinal disorder.

SEES OPTIMISM ON PRAIRIES

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Arriving in Vancouver, Says Spirit Impressed Him

Vancouver, May 4.—"The amazing spirit of optimism and hope" on the prairies has impressed Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, a visitor in Vancouver to-day. Mr. Stevens arrived from Ottawa for the convocation of the University of British Columbia, at which there will be conferred on him an honorary degree of LL.D.

"There is no evidence of wining or complaining on the part of business men and farmers in the prairie provinces," he said. "Crop prospects are good, and when harvest comes there will be a wide outlook for labor. It is noticeable there is a return to the old horse power in replacing machine power on the land."

The poor United States winter wheat crop, modification of foreign milling quotas by France and other countries, and the slackening off of competition in the European markets were quoted by Mr. Stevens as other reasons for a bright outlook in the west this year.

League Manchuria Report Published

Geneva, May 4.—The first report of the League of Nations Manchurian inquiry commission, published here to-day, makes no recommendations for fixing responsibility for the situation in Manchuria.

It cites data given by the Japanese authorities setting out that "the Chinese Government does not now exercise authority in any part of Manchuria."

It also quotes reports of the Japanese military authorities saying "bandit" forces appear to have increased in numbers since the Japanese occupation of Mukden in September.

STOCK SALES TO BE TAXED

U.S. Senate Committee Approves Levy, Lumber Tariff Outlook Discussed

Tax on Cheques; Postal Rate on Letters Three Cents

Washington, May 4.—A flat rate of four cents on the sale of each $100 bond was voted to-day by the United States Senate finance committee. The rate is the same as was set yesterday for stock sales.

Senator W. L. Jones, Republican, Washington, told newspapermen he expected to get lumber import taxes written into the bill to-day. The Washington senator is sponsor of several amendments to put import levies on logs, shingles and pulpwood.

Mr. Jones said he thought the import levies on coal and copper, stricken from the bill by the committee, "would have a chance" to be put back in.

The committee made all cheques subject to the two cents tax, eliminating the $5 exemption allowed in its original proposal.

THREE-CENT POSTAGE
The committee approved an increase from two cents to three in first-class postal rates.

CAPONE MAY BE PRISON TAILOR

Or Gangster May Work in Laundry of Penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia

Atlanta, Ga., May 4.—The thirty-year-old Atlanta federal prison opened today a new and non-committal open house to Al Capone to-day.

Through its gates so many guests, distinguished for one reason or another, have passed that the arrival of the pudgy scar-faced gangster meant nothing in its routine. There were no elaborate preparations for admission and no excitement.

Al Capone will be just another number on the roster and another grey-clad figure in a time-tried punitive programme. Once inside the iron bars and stone walls that surround the business-like prison plant at the outskirts of South Atlanta, the gangster will be swallowed in silence as far as the outside world is concerned. The prison does not give information of its individual inmates.

There was no official comment, but it was reported Capone's job would be something at which he could be kept under close guard, perhaps in the laundry or tailor shop.

On Board Capone Train at Danville, Ill. en Route to Atlanta, May 4.—Al Capone, disillusioned and dejected gang chief, approached the United States federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., to-day with the assertion he was "through with the racket."

To-night he will start serving an eleven-year sentence for evading income taxes and Capone, giving up hope at last, said there was "nothing to do but make the best of it."

As his train cut down toward the southland, the gangster jested and kept up a rapid-fire conversation with guards, but did not try to hide his disappointment.

No Vote On Haydon In Upper Chamber

Ottawa, May 4.—Because of his indifferent health, no further action will be taken in the case of Senator Andrew Haydon of Ottawa, it was announced to-day in the upper chamber by Senator Arthur Meighen, Government Party leader in the Senate.

Senator Haydon was censured in the report of the Conservative majority of the Senate committee for his association with the promotion of the Beauharnois power and navigation project. Linked with him was Senator W. L. McDougall of Montreal, who resigned shortly after last midnight, just after the majority report, opposed throughout by the Liberals, had been adopted on a majority report, 34 to 27.

DOLLAR GAINS ON EXCHANGE

New York, May 4.—Canadian and British currencies displayed higher tendencies on the local foreign exchange market to-day, although they fluctuated within a narrow range. The Canadian dollar closed 1/2 of a cent higher at 89 1/2 cents, and the pound sterling ended the session one cent higher at $3.67 1/2 for cable transfers.

SLOT MACHINES ARE FORFEITED

Magistrate Orders Confiscation of $2,000 Worth of Candy Vendors

Operators Plead Guilty to Charges of Keeping Gaming Houses

Fourteen candy vending machines, commonly known as slot machines, valued at approximately $2,000, were ordered confiscated by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning following entry of a plea of guilty on behalf of the operators to charges of keeping common gaming houses.

Proprietors of the stores in which the machines were found were fined the sum of $150 each. They pleaded guilty to the charges.

The machines were seized by the police in a series of raids on April 6 and 7, being located in various confectionery stores, pool parlors and news-stands.

Constables F. R. Woolsey and David Donaldson described to the court how they had gone round the previous day and played the machines. In each case they used nickels on the machines and received slugs in return. With these slugs they purchased candy and cigarettes.

Their evidence showed that in the fourteen machines they played a total of $410, receiving in return sixty (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Lethbridge, Alta., May 4.—John Braille, organizer for the youth's section of the Workers' Unity League, was placed under arrest to-day in connection with a demonstration at Bellevue in the Crow's Nest Pass mine strike area. The Bellevue mine was reported this morning to be without miners reporting for work were turned back, only fifty going to work. They were escorted to the mine by Mounted Police. The mine had been closed for two months on account of the strike.

Several hundred men, women and children joined in a demonstration. The mine was heavily picketed. Many miners reporting for work were turned back, only fifty going to work. They were escorted to the mine by Mounted Police. The mine had been closed for two months on account of the strike.

ASHCROFT ROAD TO BE COMPLETED

Vancouver, May 4.—Hon. R. W. Bruhn, provincial Minister of Public Works, returned to this city to-day after a week's tour of the roads in the Fraser Canyon and Nicola valley. He stated completion of the road between Spence's Bridge and Ashcroft must be undertaken this year as the condition of the road was dangerous.

He was present at several of the camps when they were closed down after the men had left for Vancouver. "We are through with the non-workers," he said. "If the men expect to remain in camp they must be prepared to work. We are going to concentrate our camps as much as possible along the Transcanada Highway."

Police Drive Against Nudists Is Expected

Officers Reported Ready to Round Up Sons of Freedom Still Disrobing in Public at Thrums, B.C.

Canadian Press
Nelson, B.C., May 4.—Dunkhobors in the Thrums district staged another nude demonstration early this morning, but donned clothing afterward. This was the only incident up to the noon hour.

While police officers had nothing to say in drive against the nudists at Thrums was expected at any moment either to-day or to-morrow, as the provincial government had declared it would clean up the situation.

Meanwhile in the Nelson jail, where 118 were being held for parading in the nude last Sunday, all was quiet. A large awning had been erected, shutting off the view of the jail yard from Doukhobors and other curious souls. City police were keeping people on the move in front of the jail.

FIGURES OF 1932
Dealing with revenues and outlays, Mr. Beatty said:

"The earnings and expenses during the first quarter of the year 1932 indicate the reduction in gross earnings has not been substantially checked, though the percentage decrease for the months of February and March were less than the month of January. Gross earnings during the three months decreased $5,504,000, and the economic situation throughout the system resulted in a decrease in working expenses of $6,060,000, leaving a moderate decrease in net earnings for the quarter of $448,000, or in other words, the decrease in expenses has absorbed 93.1 per cent of the decrease in gross earnings. Of the decrease in gross earnings approximately $1,000,000, or 17 per cent, was due to lesser movement of grain.

The following were charged: D. T. Irvine, 809 Government Street; H. J. Wescombe, 4901 Douglas Street; Frank Exley, 2422 Government Street; Frank Kewley, 920 Government Street; W. J. NEW SHIPS
"In reviewing the last ten years, your directors are satisfied the company's practice of substituting modern for obsolete tonnage was absolutely sound, even though in recent years the earnings have not been satisfactory. Both travel and trade inevitably went to the newer and faster vessels, and your well-balanced fleet has been able to retain its full share of the traffic, a substantial portion of which would otherwise have been diverted elsewhere by consequent heavy losses to your railway as well as your steamship lines."

THE CONSOLIDATED
At the end of 1931 your company's investment in the Consolidated Mining and Development Company of Canada was represented by a holding of 201,034 shares of capital stock, or 51.64 per cent of the shares outstanding. The total cost of your investment in the Consolidated Company was $15,228,394, and the total cash received on the investment as interest and dividends to the end of 1931 was $2,218,612, and the addition that company contributed to the end of 1931 was $1,228,394, or 400,000 per cent. The industry is the largest in British Columbia and its prosperity is a matter of vital importance to that province, particularly the southern portion. Your investment in the Consolidated Company has been most fortunate, and has had valuable direct and indirect consequences to your company's operations. A moderate strengthening in metal prices will restore the financial power of the Consolidated Company and its manufacture of fertilizer promises to be a definite success.

NEW STOCK
"An Act of Parliament, the application for which was referred to the annual report, has been passed, authorizing the company to issue from time to time additional consolidated debenture stock to an amount which together with the secured obligations of the company at such time outstanding shall not exceed one-half of the company's property investment."

USED ILLEGALLY

I think these machines come within the section of the code which provides for confiscation of articles used as gambling devices."

MACDONALD IN OCCULTISTS' HANDS

munication and transportation facilities between the industrial east and the agricultural west. Obviously their future development and use must have regard to these new conditions. The whole subject is now being considered by the royal commission on transportation, whose report will be awaited with interest. DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED
The retiring directors, Grant Hall, R. S. McLaughlin, E. R. Peacock and W. N. Tilley, K.C., were re-elected.

At a meeting of directors following the annual meeting of shareholders, E. W. Beatty, K.C., was re-elected chairman and president, and Grant Hall, vice-president, and E. W. ## MCDONALD QUILTS SENATE

Montrealer Resigns After Conservative Declaration on Beauharnois Adopted

Aylesworth Argues Senate Lacks Power to Expel Any of Its Members

Ottawa, May 4.—Senator Wilfrid Laurier McDougald, Montreal, resigned from the Senate shortly after last midnight. His action climaxed a straight party division, 34 to 27, which adopted the report of the Beauharnois committee, drafted and supported by the Conservative majority of the committee, but opposed throughout by the Liberal members of the committee. The report condemned his relationship with the power politics.

As soon as the vote had been recorded, amid an unbroken stillness, Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader in the Senate, read Senator McDougald's resignation. Political partisanship alone accounted for the censure passed on him, the Montrealer said. Then he added: "With those members of the Conservative Party in the Senate who have not hesitated to do all in their power to destroy me, both politically and personally, I have no desire to have any further association."

Coupled with Senator McDougald in the censuring report of the Conservative committee members was another Liberal member of the Upper House, Senator Andrew Haydon of Ottawa. A third, Senator Donald Raymond of Montreal, was given a mild rebuke by the committee majority. None of the three was present when the vote was taken just after last midnight.

It was the first time in Canadian parliamentary history that a Senator had been censured by his fellow-members. It also marked one of the closing chapters in the long chain of repudiations that followed the original charges concerning Beauharnois made in the House of Commons before the last election by Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta.

Crowded galleries waited through the night till the vote was reached. It was the third full day of debate. The major contribution yesterday came from one of the senior parliamentarians, Sir Allen B. Aylesworth of Toronto, who was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Minister of Justice. In presenting his opinion the Senate did not possess power to expel a member, said the independence of the Upper House would be shaken to the roots if a seat were held at the sufferance of the majority.

Speaking yesterday afternoon, Senator J. J. Hughes, Liberal, Prince Edward Island, said Senator G. Lynch-Staunton, Conservative, Hamilton, had positively the senators concerned would find justification for their actions within the provisions of the Companies Act. Mr. Lynch-Staunton's post had been that the senators violated the ethics of the House, that Senator Haydon had made untrue statements affecting the High Commissioner in London (Mr. Ferguson), and that, therefore, he should be driven from the Senate.

Ethical standards might vary from time to time, said common knowledge every member of the Senate. Consequently, he who offended against the majority might be destroyed and driven from public life, his place to be filled by someone carrying the political faith of the majority.

"And this is not Russia," exclaimed Senator Hughes. "It is Canada." The Senate should be grateful Mr. Lynch-Staunton had laid bare the weakness of his case by exposing his motives.

The whole thing bristled with partisanship against the senators concerned.

SYSTEM TO BLAME
As to whether the senators named in the report, like many others, had done things for which the nation would suffer, he believed they had declared Senator Hughes. But it was the system under which they lived, and not primarily the men, which was to blame.

The exploitation of the Senate was recognized by the system, and legalized under it. At a time of such great economic stress, when the people were facing a serious unemployment problem, could be seen employed than in tearing their members tooth and claw, Senator Hughes said. Why should two or three men be singled out as victims, when the system was wrong?

To set the world right was too big a job for the Senate of Canada, but its role could be contributed by putting its own house in order. Reform of the Senate, he believed, was overdue. It was no reflection on the Fathers of Confederation to say the instrument fashioned by them had outlived its usefulness in certain particulars. The Senate itself was the body which should bring about this reform.

WOULD INQUIRE FURTHER
The investigation into the finances of the Beauharnois Company was not complete, said Senator J. G. Gillis, Conservative, Saskatchewan. He suggested further inquiry to determine, if possible, whether the money secured from the public in rebutments had been expended legally.

SENATOR KING SPEAKS
The record showed the House of Commons report was not concurred in by all the members of the committee, said Senator J. H. Ross, Liberal, British Columbia. A number of the Liberal senators who had already spoken, had been members of the Senate's Committee on the Finance of the Beauharnois Company. The evidence would not be admitted. Yet, did not hesitate to assert in clear and definite terms why they would not be parties to the report.

Senator King said he had been a member of the administration which in 1929 had granted the approval of the Beauharnois plan. Great care had been taken in the previous government in dealing with the Beauharnois application. The sole obligation of the government was to see that navigation rights on the St. Lawrence were protected.

At the beginning of the Senate committee's session, Senator Tannier, the chairman, had declared that irrelevant evidence would not be admitted. Yet, when fifteen men invaded Senator Haydon's skunkroom and the report was made, a statement regarding a high public official, he (Dr. King) did not see where Chairman Tannier had declined to admit this to the record.

PLANS LONG FLIGHT

Style and QUALITY at New Low Prices

If he carries out his programme, Seiji Yoshikawa, above, one of Japan's leading aviators, will leave some point on this part of the North American Continent, probably Seattle, within the next few weeks, on a solo plane flight in stages to Tokyo.

Senator Tanner had said he had deleted matter from the record. "I said profane statements," said Senator Tanner.

"Yes, but I do not see why he ruled out other statements," said Senator King.

"If I had done so there would have been an outcry all over the country that I was protecting Mr. Ferguson," said Senator Tanner.

Why had not the committee been content to secure a denial by cablegram from Mr. Ferguson? asked Dr. King.

"The press representative was right beside us in the room, and Senator Haydon's statement was immediately wired all over the country," said Senator Tanner.

"Mr. Ferguson asked us to insert in the record a statement of his, in which he said that he had no knowledge of the day to day conduct of Beauharnois plans."

"Is this a conversation or is it a debate?" asked Senator Jacques Bureau.

"It isn't a kindergarten; it is an assembly of mature men who know there was no advantage to be gained from the assistance of Beauharnois," Dr. King asserted.

The High Commissioner could not have denied a conversation of which he had no knowledge, he said.

The decision of the Senate committee was a foregone conclusion that the Senators would be convicted, he said.

DENIES INFLUENCE USED
Dr. King denied the evidence proved either Senator McDougald or Senator Haydon had used his influence with the Government of the day to secure approval of Beauharnois plans.

"Why should there be such hypocrisy with regard to campaign funds?" asked Senator King. It was generally accepted these were essential. Did those who were contesting elections question the sources of the funds? In the Old Senate, he said, it was reasonable attitude toward them. To say the Conservative Party did not collect funds from corporations expecting advantages would be denying the assistance of the party. He suggested the Conservatives withdraw the beam from their own eye before extracting the mote from the eye of the Liberals.

INDEPENDENCE QUESTION
The independence of the Senate would be shaken to the roots if a member held his seat at the sufferance of the majority, said Sir Allen Aylesworth, Liberal, Toronto. Butressing his opinions with wide quotations from constitutional laws, the former Minister of Justice said the Senate did not possess power to expel one of its members, and he added, it might lead to endless abuse if that right were obtained by the Liberals.

Sir Allen, who, when he was Laurier's Minister of Justice, was known as one of the greatest of Canadian parliamentarians, has body again entered the Senate, and he has been a member of parliament for many years.

The legal opinion of Senator George Lynch-Staunton, Conservative, Hamilton, Ontario, given earlier in the debate, that expulsion of senators was possible under the statutes. He told the Senate, if it adopted the power of expulsion, its action might be questioned in the courts.

This statement was taken to corroborate reports that an appeal to the courts, possibly the Privy Council in London, would follow any expulsion order.

ALWAYS PARTY QUESTION
The statement made to the Chamber last Friday by the senator from Vancouver (Hon. A. D. McRae, Conservative) expelling the Conservative Party's attitude toward campaign fund contributions, had been an indication of what action that party would take if it was swept to power, said Sir Allen.

The party was swept into power," he continued, "and the inquiry was held. For that reason I say this was a party question long before the committee was appointed."

The report before the House arose from a matter of party politics, and it was inevitable the vote itself would result in a split along old party lines.

The Senate committee, remarked Sir Allen, had devoted a good deal of time and delay to allowing Hon. G. Howard Ferguson to deny something which had never been said. It was merely a question of fact as to what Senator Haydon had said, on the one hand, and what Mr. Ferguson had said, on the other hand, and the testimony of Mr. Ferguson had no bearing on the matter. For himself, he thought Mr. Sweeney had very probably made the sonable basis," according to a letter from M. E. Sowden, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch here, which was read to the council. The letter denied statements said to have appeared in newspapers that the bank would yield better results than to increase the rate fifteen mills.

"Judging from past experience, a higher mill rate only forces vacant land back to the municipality, instead of yielding better results than to increase the rate fifteen mills."

TAX ARREARS
Tax sale lands were assessed at $579,007, according to the last printed statement of the municipality, the letter said, and taxes in arrears amounted to $237,032.

"These figures are indeed astounding," Mr. Sowden continued, "and certainly indicate that vacant land is reverting at an alarming rate. When one considers that your total tax collections last year were $194,000 and your bank debt was $221,000 as at December 31, you can readily understand the bank, and also the ratepayers, do not wish to increase the debt. The only way to prevent this is to balance your budget. The bank is not concerned as to just how you balance your budget, but rather that the estimates of revenue are reasonable, and also that all your expenditures are fully provided for in the estimates."

The letter was tabled.

Old Country Cricket
Canadian Press
London, May 4.—Closing scores of the first day's play in first-class cricket fixtures to-day were as follows:

Lancashire 238; Worcester 34 for three wickets.

Cambridge 153; Kent 86 for three wickets.

All-India 236; against Sussex.

Yorkshire 170 for three wickets (Holmes 101 not out); against Oxford University.

The resolution was under consideration for the greater part of yesterday and was still before the House at adjournment at 11 in the evening. In brief it provides for agreements with the provinces for direct relief, special requirements in the National parks and the drought-stricken areas of Saskatchewan and assistance in defraying the cost of the sale and distribution of the products of field, farm, sea, river and mine.

PLAN LOANS FOR RELIEF
Dominion Scheme of Contributions to Provinces Outlined By Minister

Ottawa, May 4.—The Dominion government proposes to contribute, and where necessary, loan also, to the provinces in the matter of direct relief. It is planned that a percentage of relief costs yet to be determined should be paid to the provinces, and a province is unable at the moment to pay its share the Dominion exchequer will loan the amount, taking in security treasury bills.

This position of the Dominion government was made clear in the Commons late yesterday evening by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, during consideration of the unemployment relief resolution. The minister was answering a request for information as to the attitude of the administration from Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Opposition Leader, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Liberal, Quebec East.

Mr. Gordon defined the attitude taken in connection with the continued construction of public works as a consequence of representations made by the provinces at the Dominion-provincial conference.

"The programme of works," the minister said, "which have been got under way heretofore and are not yet completed—and it will take a considerable time to complete some of the works—will be continued where the work is of a kind and character that, once having been started, cannot be stopped without great loss. That will run into considerable sums of money, although I have not under my hand the exact amount of money that will be expended in the completion of the work."

R.C.M.P. ACT IS DISCUSSED

Commons Gives Third Reading to Amending Bill Necessitated By New Duties

Ottawa, May 4.—Third reading was given in the Commons yesterday to a bill amending the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act. The measure, necessitated by the force taking over the policing of the unorganized districts of the three prairie provinces and the maritimes—as well as the customs preventive service, comes into effect as from April 1.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, who sponsored the bill, announced appointment of a deputy commissioner was essential by reason of the increased work in the opinion of Commissioner J. H. MacBrien. The deputy commissioner would be the present assistant chief commissioner at Ottawa (P. S. Belchard), Mr. Guthrie intimated to the House.

The present strength of the force totaled 1,550, the minister stated. A special selected group of 350 men, who had been in the preventive service of the Department of National Revenue under the old arrangement to combat smuggling, would be added to the R.C.M.P. These men, Mr. Guthrie observed, were being appointed on a basis of meritorious service and on recommendation of the Department of National Revenue.

J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg, North Centre, was "disgusted with the despicable method of spying adopted by the R.C.M.P." Men had been placed in labor organizations of different sorts and had gleaned much information by that method, he said. Why not send them around some of the big financial and commercial institutions which were far more dangerous to the country? asked Mr. Woodsworth.

In his address, the Minister of Justice had mentioned the duties of the R.C.M.P. commissioner. Regarding that point, said Mr. Woodsworth, he wished the commissioner would confine his work to policing. In a public speech the other day the commissioner had said of foreigners who were unemployed and trying to hold meetings, "the best we can do would be to send them back where they came from."

"In international affairs war does not bring peace nor do repressive national laws create a greater respect for the law," said Mr. Woodsworth. He noted that in England the policeman carried batons, while in the United States they carried guns. It was significant the best law and order existed in England.

Mr. Woodsworth protested against the deporting of foreigners when the action was not warranted. He had been opposed to the great influx of immigration, but now that the men were in Canada the government had no

C.N.R.'S LEGAL COSTS STUDIED

Commons Committee Considers Outlays For Advice By Counsel and Court Work

Ottawa, May 4.—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, gave information on the legal department of the company at yesterday's sitting of the Commons committee on railways and shipping.

The total legal expenses of the road during 1931 were reported as $545,039.

Sir Henry said he would have the chief legal counsel of the road, Gerald Ruel, appear before the committee and give a complete list of all counsel employed both as permanent members of the staff and as part-time officers.

Figures given by the committee by the economic department of the Canadian National disclosed that whole-time members of the legal staff were paid $73,853 in 1929, $81,514 in 1930 and $83,923 in 1931. Retaining fees during the same periods were: 1929, $17,233; 1930, $13,146; and 1931, $12,467.

Fees paid outside lawyers in 1929 amounted to $163,351, 1930, $119,859, and 1931, $130,809.

PERSONAL EXPENSES

Personal expenses of the permanent legal staff in 1929 amounted to $31,011, in 1930 to $34,991 and in 1931 to $29,147. During the three years the department earned for services to other companies a total of about $60,000.

The legal expenses of the Canadian National Railways compared with those of other lines, on a ratio of thousand dollars operating expenses in 1930, were given as follows: Canadian National, $247; Great Western, $240; Great Northern, $233; 1930, $13,146; and 1931, $12,467.

Chesapeake and Ohio, $5.55; all other class one roads in the United States averaged $4.00.

COURT APPEARANCES

R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury, N.B., chairman of the committee, said:

"The fact is the chief counsel of the Canadian National gets $30,000 a year and the chief counsel of the Canadian Pacific gets only $20,000 a year. And the chief counsel of the Canadian Pacific goes into court and wins cases. The chief counsel of the Canadian National never goes into court."

"Perhaps that is where he displays his ability," said Sir Henry. "He keeps out of court."

Sir Henry believed the $20,000 paid the chief counsel of the Canadian Pacific was only a retaining fee, and that he got paid extra for what work he did. The Canadian National chief got $30,000 and no more.

JAMAICA HOTEL

Sir Henry said the Canadian National Railways had no obligations in connection with the hotel in Kingston, Jamaica, to which it contributed $250,000 under the authority of the government.

The railway head told of the Canadian National system being approached with a request to build a hotel in Jamaica, which it refused to do. The project was carried out with financial backing of the Jamaica Government.

The committee was told the hotel was now about to be sold under foreclosure.

No one had any authority to bind the Canadian National in any way to the undertaking, said the president.

C.N.R. BILL IS QUICKLY VOTED

Ottawa, May 4.—The Commons yesterday went into committee of the whole to consider the resolution moved by the Minister of Finance in respect to the Canadian Railways' financing, which reads: "That the Governor-in-Council may authorize the guarantee of securities of the Canadian National Railways Financing Act, 1932, to an aggregate principal amount at any one time outstanding of $1,500,000."

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, asking unanimous consent of the House to take the resolution up immediately in committee, stated the majority was required at once and that the resolution had the approval of the Governor-General.

The resolution advanced quickly and a bill based on it was introduced. First, second and third readings were given to the measure and it was sent to the Senate.

Big Gains in Disarmament Not Yet Achieved, Commons at Ottawa Told

Ottawa, May 4.—While the Canadian delegation at the Disarmament Conference in Geneva have not lost hope that some good may be accomplished by the deliberations there, nothing has come from the delegation in the form of a report that could be presented to enlighten the Commons.

The Canadian delegation had now been at Geneva three months, Mr. Lapointe said, and he was of the opinion the House was entitled to know what they were doing, and that if the honorable gentleman will recall the opinions I have expressed frequently in the House this year and last as to the motives of great events connected with disarmament."

SCHOOL BY-LAW AT COURTENAY

Monthly Tax Will Be $2.50 and $4 For Non-taxpaying Parents, Measure Provides

Special to The Times
Courtenay, May 4.—The new school by-law received its first and second reading at the city council meeting Monday evening.

The by-law provides for a monthly tax of $2.50 and $4 respectively for children attending the elementary and high schools for otherwise non-taxpaying parents. This will be effective commencing September next. Those over twenty-one years of age, who have no children attending school and who are not now paying taxes, will be taxed at the rate of $10 for the year. No provision will be made to provide funds for educational purposes for pupils over the age of seventeen years. This is the decision of the city council following consultation with the Courtenay board of school trustees recently.

Reports from the electric light and water committees showed revenues for April to be better than those for the same month last year. The light service is being extended to Nob Hill, Comox. A letter from the Nanaimo municipal council to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities requesting a reduction of B.C. Telephone Company's rates was unanimously endorsed.

The better housing committee reported an amount of $600 in arrears. All city relief work is said to have stopped on May 1. Only men actually needed will now be employed, it was stated. This condition is to obtain until the government introduces a scheme.

Ontario Has New Plans For Relief

Toronto, May 4.—There is possibility of extensive changes in methods of administering relief in Ontario, according to Premier George S. Henry. Establishment of a committee of three to advise the government concerning the best method of dealing with unemployment relief problems was proposed by Premier Henry at a conference with the Ontario Relief Committee Monday.

No decision had been made as to the personnel of such committee, however, the Premier said.

There also was a possibility the province would establish stores where people getting direct relief would be able to secure their food supplies and other necessities, he said.

SOUND BUSINESS

PRIVATE AND PUBLIC EFFORTS FOR the amelioration of the unhappy lot of those who are not able to provide themselves with the necessities of life have grown to such proportions during the last few years that the time has arrived for the organization of a centralized system of control. If unlimited funds were always available there would not be so much cause for alarm. But it is felt that the last vestige of duplicated effort must now be removed if the maximum benefit is to be obtained from the distribution of assistance in its various forms. Hence, the city council's decision to support the establishment of a central exchange is sound business. And it is only natural that those who have so generously responded to the numerous calls which have been made upon them should want to be assured that every dollar is wisely spent.

It should be understood, of course, that the proposed exchange will not add to the number of welfare organizations in the city, as some critics of the plan seem to think; nor will it handle funds. Its sole object is to correlate the work of the various bodies already in existence by the compilation of a confidential index of all who apply for assistance, with the name of the applicant and the organization which has given that assistance, thus avoiding overlapping. Such a system likewise would prevent the exploitation by one person of what, after all, is a fund for a common purpose, at the expense of another.

LUCKY AL CAPONE

AS THIS IS WRITTEN WE ARE TOLD that Al Capone is on his way to Atlanta to serve his penitentiary term for evading the income tax laws of the United States. The former bar-keeper who became the king-pin of our neighbor's underworld, who controlled the forces of law and order to an extent that gave him practically a free hand to do as he liked, will change his name for a number. But Mr. Capone thinks he is a very badly treated citizen. He says "it's a dirty deal—a bum rap," and that the "Supreme Court didn't treat me fair." He writes his own character record this way:

I'm a good citizen. I did lots of good. All I did was sell people liquor. The prohibition law is all wrong anyhow. I gave everybody a break. I fed the poor at my soup kitchen. I was a good husband and father.

This final whine of the lord of gangdom is typical of the corner criminal. But Mr. Capone ought to think himself a very lucky individual. He will serve about seven years—perhaps—and will escape the electric chair. He will not enter the penitentiary as the director of machine gun rule, of killings for which nobody has been brought to justice, of the beer wars, and the wholesale corruption of officials.

Practically every Chicago newspaper has openly accused Capone of murder. But he accepted these charges with the cool defiance of his tribe. He had no cause to worry; he was able to "fix" everything. It should not be forgotten, of course, that he once did twelve months for carrying weapons. This temporary seclusion he rather seemed to welcome, as some of his rivals of that time—since effectively "subdued"—were about to make it hot for him. Now, however, he is going to the penitentiary for the comparatively mild offence of retaining certain moneys that should have gone into Uncle Sam's pocket.

With Capone out of the way, will the round-up of his gang and those under the gang's control be commenced in earnest? This probably will be the question every decent United States citizen will ask. Only recently Capone's right-hand man, Jack Guzik, was shipped to Leavenworth to serve a five-year sentence—also because he failed to pay his income tax. But he did not go with the rest of the prisoners. Instead, he got permission to pay his own expenses and the expenses of the federal guards who had him in custody; so he rode in another car and was not soiled by contact with the lesser thugs and confidence men who were going to prison. This is apt to give the ordinary citizen an acute pain. He surely will want to know why this man—should have been permitted extra privileges, even if he was able to pay for them himself. But these Chicago gangsters seem to be such influential people that they must be handled with kid gloves even after they have been sentenced to prison.

It would appear that our neighbor has its work cut out to smash the organization which Capone and his predecessors have built up in the last decade. When a malignant growth has obtained a firm hold it requires a major operation to curb its progress. Then it often fails.

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

IF THERE IS ANYTHING IN THE ECONOMIC argument that the revival of business in this country these days must sooner or later react favorably in other countries, an article which Mr. J. M. Keynes, the well-known British economist and currency expert, has contributed to The Yale Review should prove a tonic. He makes the definite statement that for the first time for several years Great Britain is now in many lines of production the cheapest producer in the world. These are encouraging extracts from the article in question:

Our British textile industries are producing twenty-five to thirty per cent more than they were, our tinplate trade is almost flourishing. Our motor industry is in a position to get what export trade there is. Our heavy industries are likely to improve within a few months. Our mercantile marine is now losing much less money than any of its competitors, which probably means that it will gradually secure a larger proportion of the available trade.

I am hopeful, therefore, that the adverse balance on income account may be reduced to the dimensions of £20,000,000 or less a year in place of £100,000,000 or more; though I scarcely expect to see a favorable balance until, through a rise in world prices, our foreign-owned equities begin once again to yield us an income.

Mr. Keynes says that if these hopes are realized and Britain continues to be helped by India's exports of gold, the value of sterling will be under control, leaving the country free to work out a policy as to what it wants. Upon the deliberate and voluntary decisions Britain then makes, he concludes, will depend the future level of sterling.

MAY DAY HERE AND ELSEWHERE

THERE WAS MUCH SPACE DEVOTED in Monday's newspapers to the May Day parades of Sunday, with 4,500 radical demonstrators at the Powell Street grounds in Vancouver, 7,000 marchers in Seattle, clashes between mobs and the police in other centres of Canada, United States, and in practically all the populous Old World cities. Victoria also had its May Day parade, but there were no stories of it in the newspapers. Such stories would have told of the long procession of motor cars jamming the up-land and Saanich highways, carrying happy families out to the woods and lakes for the enjoyment of a day of glorious sunshine.

The police on this Island did have a busy time of it on May Day, at some points; but it was mainly confined to regulating the heavy motor traffic.

CAN TAXES BE STABILIZED?

WITH INCOMES DWINDLING DOWN near the 1913 level, having to bear taxation on the grand scale of 1932, the taxpayer is in a mood to extend sympathetic consideration to safeguarding proposals for the future, such as the flexible tax plan put forward by Henry Richmond Jr., in The Magazine of Wall Street.

The world-wide situation to-day is that while the farmer's income vanishes, his taxes rise. The businessman finds profits harder to obtain than ever, but his taxes double. No sooner has the salaried worker received notice of a reduction in his wages than he is faced with an inflated tax bill.

Mr. Richmond suggests sound governmental business practice would require that in times of prosperity a surplus be laid up, which in times of depression could be drawn upon to lighten the tax burden. While lower imposts in hard times would relieve the depressing effect of adversity, higher taxation in times of prosperity would check prosperity excesses. Taxes should fall as the people's capacity to pay falls, and rise only as the capacity to pay rises.

How could this be worked out? The proposal calls for a series of graduating rates in income and other standard assessments. These rates would be based broadly on the requirements for governmental services averaged over a period of years to obtain what should be a normal yearly amount. Then should business, as judged by the recognized trade indices, rise twenty per cent above normal, the rates automatically would be increased twenty per cent. On the other hand, should it fall twenty per cent below normal, they would be cut twenty per cent.

"It is not difficult to imagine that such a plan would be an immense force working toward business stability," its proposer comments. "No longer would we have the unhealthy booms of a 1929, nor the equally unhealthy depths of a 1932. It is only at times like the present, when adversity bears heavily on everyone, that there exists the necessary desire to plan for the future. Now is the time to lay the groundwork for obtaining a business stabilizer whose operation relieves the onus of adversity and checks the excesses of prosperity."

As it would involve governments cutting their coats according to their cloth—which, of course, is contrary to government habits—this scheme might be considered highly idealistic. But the least that can be pointed to in its favor is the current unsystematized practice which has anything but satisfaction to its credit during periods of stress.

DE VALERA'S PROGRAMME

We do not imagine that England will go to war with Ireland if De Valera persists. Tariff retaliation has been suggested, and this might be very injurious to Ireland. But from the logical and ethical point of view De Valera has not a leg to stand on.

WORLD'S FASTEST TRAIN FROM LONDON TO U.S.
 The Toronto Telegram

Ever heard of "taking the train." London to Chicago? The test is to be accomplished next year, when the Flying Scotsman, the fastest train in the world in the London-Edinburgh run, is to be brought to the United States for exhibition purposes. It will be manned by a complete staff of English trainmen, including its own engine crew. It will be a complete train, with coaches, sleepers and dining cars.

The present programme is for the American railroads to co-operate in this exhibition trip by escorting the Flying Scotsman with modern American railroad equipment, and there is a probability that old pioneer locomotives, passenger coaches and freight cars will be carried along as an exhibit to show the progress of railway transportation in the last hundred years.

INSULIN FOR TUBERCULOSIS?
 Exchange

The originator of psychiatric hospitals, Dr. Frederick Madison Allen of Morristown, N.J., last week suggested (with reservations) that insulin be used to treat tuberculosis. Insulin, he observed, "serves for more than mere carbohydrate (sugars, starches) utilization. It is the hormone of assimilation and anabolism. In this capacity it plays a well-recognized role in the resistance to infection, as is illustrated by the susceptibility of diabetic patients to infections and the restoration of resistance by insulin. Patients with uncontrolled diabetes particularly lack resistance to tuberculosis."

Certain European investigators have tentatively treated tuberculosis with insulin, but not to the extent that Dr. Allen has. In his Psychiatric Institute at Morristown, a mansion once owned by Banker Otto Hermann Kahn—Dr. Allen observed that not every tuberculosis patient can endure the insulin treatment. Particularly is this so among those who run high fevers. Otherwise, declares Dr. Allen: "In the less toxic cases able to tolerate the full insulin dosage, it has been possible to build up weight, seemingly muscle as well as fat, at rates as high as a pound a day."

Loose Ends

A plea for drastic action to stop this fellow Cuthbertson—sane, deep stuff, which confirms my worst suspicions—and protest from some good-minded gentlemen.

By H. B. W.

CAN NOTHING be done to stop this man Cuthbertson? I do not mean that in a rhetorical or metaphorical sense. I do not say it merely to fill up this column. I mean, can nothing be done to stop him? I realize, of course, that civilization can't control itself, can't seem to do anything about the larger troubles that beset it; but surely it hasn't become so utterly debilitated that this man, Cuthbertson, can continue to destroy its peace, undermine its homes and rifle the last slight remains of its mind without even a protest. One had become reconciled, after long misery, to auction bridge. One had even grasped the general idea of contract. Then came this man Cuthbertson. He turned amusement into hard labor, bridge into a system of mathematics; nay, worse, a system of multiplication tables until you must know how many points response in an ace-king, jack-ten, or a singleton in diamonds if you are to be saved.

YOU MUST NOT bid according to common sense. You must not gamble in the good old way. You must not be a sportsman and take a chance. You must not use your own intelligence. You must figure out your hand and bid it according to Cuthbertson. If you don't it matters not that you succeed; it matters not that you make a grand slam and a quick rubber. If you haven't bid according to Cuthbertson, if he is discovered afterwards that you bid higher than Cuthbertson's logarithms or lower, then are you unfit for the society of decent people.

LAST NIGHT, in cold blood, I saw an innocent and simple soul bid one club. His partner, one of the disciples of Cuthbertson, bid two diamonds and got the bid. When the poor fellow's hand was tabled she almost screamed with horror because she found that, according to Cuthbertson's logarithms, he hadn't two and a half playing points. We had no right to bid at all, though the hand looked pretty fat to me. She became quite hysterical about it and prophesied that they would go down four at least. She made a little slam and rubber but that did not mend matters. That did not justify the unhappy partner. He hadn't bid according to Cuthbertson and, what's more, the results might be, he was obviously unfit for polite circles. Far, far better to go down, to be set, to lose money by following Cuthbertson, than to win by your own intelligence.

BUT WHAT IS most disconcerting to ordinary men, what is most indicative of civilization's imminent collapse, is the superiority, the intellectual snobbery of these Cuthbertsons. They will treat you like a pickpocket if you don't know their silly rules. Yes, men who have no notion of public affairs, who are unfit to vote for the city council, to whom the simplest economies are a closed book and who know nothing of inflation or deflation except as it affects an automobile tire, will talk to you with confidence or pity, according to their nature, if you don't know how many points are contained in a king-jack. Women whose abysmal ignorance is quite beyond imagining, women who don't know the name of the Prime Minister of Canada and have far less useful knowledge than the blind of London, will lecture you on Cuthbertson as if you were a half-wit boy, newly come to kindergarten. Women who have never read a line of Chaucer nor a play of Shakespeare, who know precious little of the Scriptures, can yet quote Cuthbertson by the yard. I tell you, the man is a menace to the race.

I SUPPOSE, HOWEVER, this kind of bridge suits them. I suppose that people of that calibre need somebody to guide their play as they need others to guide their work. But why should the imagination of intelligent people be subjugated, their intellectual powers cramped and their self-respect be undermined because they refuse to be bound by Cuthbertson's rules, because they think for themselves? I tell you, it is a sign of the race's intellectual decay that it prefers to play so strictly according to Cuthbertson's system, that in the end it is not playing at all. It is merely taxing its brain to remember his rules. But you will find this compensation—in every case those who tax their brains in this fashion never tax them otherwise.

OCCASIONALLY the wild and dangerous opinions of this column are confirmed by recognized authority. This always makes me doubt their validity but then, I can always change my mind. Well, I have before me an article by William B. Munro, professor of history and government of the California Institute of Technology, on the dull subject of politics. I find that Professor Munro has advanced some of the conclusions already advanced here, much more ably than I have advanced them, and the net effect is to show that the old system of party politics has broken down in almost every part of the world. In Britain three parties govern together with the unaided liberty of cabinet ministers to vote against their own cabinet. France is in the hands of a group of political blocs. Russia and Italy are each under one party. In Japan the military are running affairs regardless of all parties, to suit themselves. And in the United States, says the professor, party politics are in utter chaos, no one is in control of the Senate or the House and there is no agreement on any of the immediate political issues in either party.

ALL THIS HAS come about, says the professor, in the last few years for the simple reason that party politics hasn't kept up with the development of our many-sided civilization. "Broadly speaking, we have no longer any political issues. Politics has become economics. Virtually every question that comes up in Congress (or in our British parliaments) is one that directly touches the pocketbook of some interest, section, class or vocation. The (present party) system was never intended to serve the needs of an age in which the advance of technology and the spread of collectivism have made politics incomprehensible to that much over-rated fellow—the plain citizen. The multifarious questions which arise in connection with our governmental activities of to-day cannot be settled by an appeal to historic party principles. Nor can they be wisely settled by submitting them to the reactions of a mass electorate. To refer intricate problems of bank regulation, public finance and international relations to the judgment of an unassorted populace is merely to set up a supreme court of ignorance before which all varieties, varieties of self-interest, sectionalism and prejudice can plead their cause in the name of party principles. The issues which are running in the minds of the American voters to-day are not the ones which have bulked large in the recent platform of the two leading political parties."

THIS IS DULL stuff, of course. Most important stuff is. It is dull and yet it is what many of us, perhaps most of us, are thinking. It is what the best minds in party politics are thinking. So, for these best minds are far ahead of their thinking of the general march of party politics. Everywhere the old political parties are going down to be replaced by new combinations, based on the issues of our time instead of the issues of the nineteenth century. Everywhere but in Canada. Here, so far, we have stood pat on the old foundation and watched, unmoved, the rebuilding of parties, the reshaping of governments, everywhere else. This shows our superior intelligence.

AS I MIGHT have anticipated, my recent remarks about the need of a truly Canadian system of cooking produced angry retorts from patriotic Canadians. They seemed to suspect me of actual disloyalty when I said that we had nothing in this country to compare with the classic culinary achievements of other nations. And I must confess that some of the people who wrote about it seemed to have a wider gustatorial experience than I can claim. They may not be greater eaters but they are certainly heavier eaters. Though they abused me for ignorance and lack of a proper national pride, still, none of them offered any real evidence, any proof that there is a Canadian dish which we can boast about. Indeed, I think it would be better, perhaps, if we frankly admitted that we had none, if we confessed that our greatest dish has not yet reached the kitchen, rather than boast of the dishes which my correspondents cite to me as truly Canadian. The only actual suggestion I have received, the only dish which is definitely represented to me as being truly Canadian, is the buckwheat cake or flap-jack. I am not sure it is Canadian. I hope not, for in my estimation it is a sodden and vile thing. It is Canadian, if the buckwheat cake be the only fruit of our national culinary genius, the least thing we can do, in common decency, is to keep quiet about it before strangers. If we do, they may never suspect it.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

FROM THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, MAY 4, 1907

News has come to hand which indicates that there promises to be great passenger and freight traffic between Sound ports and Victoria and Vancouver this coming summer. The schedule of the C.P.R. has already been announced in the columns of The Times, although it is understood that it is by no means definite and is still subject to alteration.

Three Victorians have been selected as members of the Canadian Biscuit team this year, as a result of excellent records made by them in the Biscuit competition of the C.R.A. Association last August. They are Sergt. A. Brashaw, who headed the list of prize winners in the aggregate; Sergt-Major John Caven, who was twentieth man on the list; and Sergt. G. S. Carr, who was twenty-second.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Light or moderate winds, clearing, with stationary or lower temperature.

In a lacrosse match in England on Thursday the visiting Canadian team, the Capitals, played the North of England. The score was 8 to 6 in favor of the Capitals.

Port Townsend, May 4.—The passenger steamer Bode is ashore on the rocky beach near Marrowstone Point. The passengers were taken off by the steamer Evan Thomas and landed at Port Townsend. All efforts to float the Bode proved unavailing, and the tide is going out.

Big Selby Henderson, formerly a crack local oarsman and cycling champion, but now a resident of Winnipeg, and intermediate amateur champion of America, has been in the city again renewing old acquaintances, and left yesterday for the east.

ALBERNI FIREMEN SAVE RESIDENCE

Special to The Times

Alberni, May 4.—Alberni fire department's prompt service saved from destruction the residence of Mrs. William Swanson, when fire broke out at 5 o'clock this morning. Only the pantry and kitchen suffered.

Nearly 1,000,000 persons visited this year's British Industries Fair in London.

BRITISH ISRAEL TRUTH NOT FALLACY

To the Editor:—Would you kindly permit me to call attention to a misleading local item in your issue of Monday, May 2, about the address of Dean Quainton, before the Victoria Ministerial Association re-fallacies in the British Israel theory.

In a brotherly spirit, I would ask the good dean, and all others who would honestly like to know what the British Israel theory really is, to study the word of God just as it is written, with no mutilated theological helps, for it needs none, and they will then be fully acquainted with British Israel truth, for that is their only theory. Speaking for myself, what God says in His unadorned word, I accept with all my heart. What theologians say, and God's word does not corroborate, British Israel is silent. My advice is—as an old minister of the Gospel—be honest with yourselves, be honest with your God and act upon what He teaches in His pure word of prophecy, as written by holy men of old. I have always found that God is His own interpreter, and He will make plain all that finite man does not understand. C. M. TATE.

TELLS HOW TO HANDLE HIVES

Bee Colonies Must Be Looked After in Spring; Valuable Tips Given

"Quite often some bee colonies are very weak when taken out of the cellar, through the loss of many bees during the winter. If these colonies are not looked after in the spring, their development will be greatly impeded and it is only after the flowers have begun that they will reach their maximum strength," according to Victor Checutte of the Dominion Experimental Station at St. Anne de la Postoliers, Quebec. "Lacking a large number of workers at the time when they should be fully developed," he writes, "the colonies will give only a light surplus. Sometimes even they are barely fit to winter without yielding any profit. Therefore, such colonies must be helped if a good yield is to be expected."

REDUCE BROOD CHAMBER

"At the first spring visit, the size of the brood chamber should be reduced by means of a partition board, after moving the bee-laden frames over to one side of the hive in order to conserve the heat as much as possible. Reduce the entrance to one-half inch, just enough to allow one or two bees to come out at a time, in order to prevent robbing."

"As the groups of bees become stronger, displace the partition board and add one or two combs as needed until the hive is full of bees about the end of May, according to the district. From strong colonies, take frames of capped brood in which the bees are ready to emerge within three or four days. After shaking off all the bees, place two frames of brood in each weak hive until close to its own brood nest. After four or five days the hives will be considerably strengthened by most of these young bees, the queen will begin to lay more eggs, the colonies will develop and reach their maximum strength at the beginning of the flow. Be sure, also, to see that these colonies have always lots of stores available."

They Make Dolls For Pleasure and Profit

Life-like Mannequins, Too, Come From Sisters' Workshop

By HELEN WELSHIMER

ETTA D. KIDD never outgrew her love of dolls, and because she did not she now has a doll firm which turns out hundreds and hundreds of dolls and mannequins every year.

Dolls that are just plump enough to fit into the crook of a little girl's arm, dolls that are beautifully dressed in the newest pyjamas with a touch of very real sophistication. Life-sized dolls that show what the new styles for children and girls' clothing are and exactly how they should be worn.

Buyers come flocking to buy. When window displays are being planned Miss Kidd is called into consultation. She decides what dolls will help put over the picture. Sometimes it is a play scene that is needed. Once it was a complete wedding. She made dolls, and dressed dolls and told the story.

SISTERS FORM COMPANY

Miss Kidd is president of her own company, and her sister, Mrs. A. K. Richardson, who has had artistic training, assists her. But once upon a time, not so long ago, they were just two girls who had an idea about dolls and did not know what to do with it.

"We decided that we might as well try to market it," Mrs. Richardson says now. "The long-legged, smart, sophisticated types of dolls were appearing, such dolls. We got busy. My mother, Etta and I made twenty-five dolls. We stuffed them with cotton, littered up the living room, and wondered if anybody would buy."

"Etta had always made dolls. First for herself, then for any child that wanted one. She had designed clothes, too, and the party dresses that she fashioned were always unusually lovely."

"When the twenty-five were ready we put them in sample cases and started out to see some buyers. We were both graduates of a finishing school, but we did not know very much about the business world."

ORDERS CAME RAPIDLY

But the world fell in love with their dolls. Buyers came out to see the whole group. They used all the superlatives they knew. And they ordered and ordered.

The two girls rented a display room. The painters and workmen were getting it ready. Among the last orders came the doll-makers sat watching more orders come in.

The business grew. Then one day they were asked to make a mannequin. They did. They were off at a new angle.

"Now our mannequins range all the way from six months to sixteen years," Miss Kidd says.

They are alert, life-like creatures, with mischievous grins from their eyes. They have curled eyelashes, which is also a feature of the other dolls. And they are not stiff. They are graceful and held away with the same rhythm as the human body. It is not enough for a mannequin to look real. It has to act that way to please the designer.

IT IS A STORY-BOOK SHOP

No real hair is ever used. Everything else, though. Patent leather, rope, silk, straw.

The dolls stand everywhere in the display room, like a regular story-book shop. These that are mannequins and those that are genuine dolls.

Their cheeks are tinted the colors which the particular type needs. Their clothes are the very latest styles. They are gay and colorful, sophisticated, beguiling—anything you want.

For Mrs. Kidd designs them, one after another, with all the eagerness that she showed when she used to make rag dolls to please the neighborhood children.

Fort Victoria

Founded 1843 by Hudson's Bay Company

While we are celebrating our 262nd Anniversary, it is fitting to recall that our beautiful City of Victoria was founded eighty-nine years ago by Hudson's Bay Company. The judgment of Sir James Douglas in choosing the site has been abundantly justified by the subsequent development of the city; now the capital of British Columbia.

"Carry a Spare"

An extra pair of Glasses is the best possible insurance against the annoyance and discomfort caused by loss or breakage of a single pair. But there is another way in which the extra pair can be of value. That is, from the style viewpoint. No one wears the same clothes day after day. We all dress up on occasion. Then why not dress up the eyes to conform to the rest of the attire. For every day, work or sports wear, we suggest a sturdy shell form, while for dress occasions a light gold-filled or rimless mounting can be worn as an agreeable change. Special prices will be in effect on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Do Many Jobs Well, Says Opera Star

By JULIA BLANSHARD

DEVELOP every single talent you have. If you excel at one thing, do not let that stop you from finding expression in others. There probably are many things you can do well!

That is the recipe for a happy life suggested by a distinguished European visitor, Madame Rosette Anday.

Madame Anday is the contralto prima donna from the Vienna State Opera. She is on a two months' concert tour throughout America.

Young, vibrant, far-famed as the outstanding European contralto while yet under twenty-five, Madame Anday herself is excellent proof of the recipe she recommends. Her laugh has the same richness as her voice. Seated in a window nook surrounded by flowers, as the morning sun struck her natural red hair and her brown eyes with the ruddy hue that goes with such lovely hair, she made a radiant picture of health, happiness, success.

A VIOLIN PRODIGY

Of course Madame Rosette is gifted far beyond the average person. Before she was known for her voice, she was a "wonder-child on the violin," and for eight years, from the time she was six until she was fourteen, she toured her own country and other parts of Europe. Her Stradivarius violin was at her side as she talked to me. She still plays for her own enjoyment, for her friends.

"I was having increasing difficulty with my hands during long concerts, for they were so small they tired," she unconsciously held up her hands as she explained how she came to change from violin to singing. They are small as child's hands, beautifully formed.

"I have always sung. I never ran through the house or the garden or went riding or out for other pastime that I didn't sing," she continued in English that she apologizes for, unnecessarily, but she speaks five languages fluently and considers herself very bad in English.

"Some family friend who had been away for some time heard me one day and insisted that I go to Budapest to study. So I did," she smiled as if that finished the explanation of why to-day she is far-famed for the superb quality, the tremendous force of her rich voice.

She has never known the heart-ache of trying to break into opera. She never had the grueling experience of being a novice on trial. Graduating from the conservatory, she was offered a six years' contract to sing for the six months each season with the Vienna State Opera. From the first night that she appeared in Carmen, the music-loving audience took this native daughter of theirs to their hearts. She has been invited and sung in all the European capitals. Rinehart once chartered a special train to deliver her back to her opera in time, after she sang for him in Berlin. In Paris she won a medal last year for the marvelous range of her voice as well as the effortless way it pours forth in song.

AN ACTRESS-MUSICIAN

Singing she enjoys tremendously. To see her sing one would understand that. She is more than a bit of an actress, as well as a magnificent contralto singer!

"Some day I will be a painter," she calmly stated. For with her days filled with rehearsals and her nights with performances, she still has found time to take painting. Four of her pictures have been exhibited in Vienna. Her home in Vienna, which is a little Renaissance palace, has many famous paintings and other works of art which she has collected.

She has learned her sweetest notes from the birds, she told me, seriously. From childhood she has loved birds and insists she and they understand each other. Her friends testify that wild birds not only answer her but come to her, when she calls them in the woods. So well known is this love she has for the feathered kingdom that she is affectionately called "Little Bird" by the Viennese. Last year, when the season closed, they called her back many times and finally presented her with an exquisite golden bird for which they had all contributed. She has never kept a pet bird. "I couldn't bear to have it caged," she said.

Plans For Costly Soviet Palace Revealed At Urban's Benefit Show

IN A BENEFIT exhibition for unemployed architectural draftsmen, Joseph Urban, modernist architect, theatrical designer, and artist, has revealed his plans for the Palace of the Soviets, which will be built in Moscow on the site of the Czarist cathedral, now being razed.

His one-man show, although it includes numerous other samples of his work, is devoted principally to the monumental project of a Soviet government headquarters. Urban was one of two American architects who, with six from France, Germany and Italy, were commissioned by the U.S.S.R. to submit plans for the development.

The main auditorium will be one of the world's largest buildings if Urban's designs are adopted. It would seat 15,000 persons and have a stage upon which 10,000 persons could stand. Other buildings in the group would include a second auditorium seating 6,000, exhibition hall, assembly rooms, offices, administration building and a library and huge reading rooms.

Underground traffic tunnels, the extensive use of glass throughout the buildings, and striking applications of color both inside and out are other features. Urban would completely line the huge home of the larger auditorium with red glass mosaic to make one of the most dazzling spectacles in the world.

The winner in the competition is to be selected by a jury of experts and a popular vote of the Soviet masses.

Hear Resume Of Temperance Work

Centennial United W.M.S. Auxiliary had a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Saunby, Sumas Street, Monday afternoon. After the devotional period, reports were presented by the secretaries of the various departments. A new member, Mrs. Wheeler, was welcomed, also a former member, Mrs. S. S. Peat, recently of Pender Island.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Spofford, gave a history of the temperance movement in Victoria; its founding by Col. Hawkins in 1852; the organizing of the W.C.T.U. by Miss Frances Willard, first woman to appear as a public speaker in the city; the careful selection of the committee, when each of the three denominations—Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist—met to have equal representation; the struggle for the franchise, when women were told that they would be much better employed at home, mending their husbands' socks; the various forms of liquor control which have been in force, and the reforms now advocated by the Prohibition Association.

At the close of the address, a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Spofford by Mrs. Glaspell, the auxiliary president. Light refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Agnes Spencer, during the social half hour which followed the meeting.

TO HOLD LEAGUE OF NATIONS TEA

The members of the Victoria Women's Institute will hold a League of Nations tea in their rooms, Gordon Building, 739 Yates Street, on Friday, at 2:30 o'clock. In addition to the names of artists already published, Mrs. E. Bosworth, pianist, and Mrs. W. H. Thornbrough, violin, will play during the tea hour. Mrs. F. Uggla, at Woodman, will sing. The beautiful hand-knitted comforter made from discarded rayon underwear, and which won first prize at the recent quilt exhibit, will be on display.

Ministering Circle—The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters will meet on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the rest rooms, Hibben-Bone Building.

YEAR BUSIEST IN ITS ANNALS

Aged Women's Home Cared For Seventy-nine, Annual Report Shows

With a total of seventy-nine inmates cared for, last year was the busiest in the annals of the Aged Women's Home, according to the secretary's report presented at the thirty-fourth annual meeting yesterday afternoon. Mrs. W. L. Clay presided.

EXTRA BEDS ADDED
The report, presented by Mrs. A. D. Whittier, who for eleven consecutive years has been secretary-treasurer, noted that at the present time there are seventy-nine in the Home, that being the largest number since its inception, four extra beds having been added during the year. There have been six deaths and three have left, two of these having to go to the hospital owing to illness.

"The staff remains the same with Miss Robb, the matron, and Miss Patterson, assistant matron, as the efficient heads, all working together in their arduous duties of caring for and helping those in their charge. The committee following their usual custom have done considerable renovating and refurbishing, adding to the comfort and convenience of the Home."

"The annual book shoyer and tea was held on the afternoon of November 24, and as in previous years was attended by a large number of friends, who were glad of the opportunity to see the improvements that had been made."

Reference was made to the finances of the institution which are in satisfactory condition, despite the prevailing stress. Mrs. Whittier acknowledged the kindness of the Ministerial Association and the Salvation Army in holding services, to the various organizations for providing entertainment, to Mr. and Mrs. Butchart for their kind hospitality, to the generous friends for many donations, and to the local press, Mrs. Clay in her brief report paid tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Harriet Carne, one of the founders of the home, to whom much was owed for her wise advice and never-failing interest in the institution.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED
The election of officers then took place, resulting in all the former officers being returned by acclamation. Mrs. Clay, first vice-president, Mrs. Leiser, second vice-presi-

Marcia agreed. They left together and the girl stepped into the green roadster and Jim took the wheel. The engine purred gently as the car pulled away from the curb. Fifteen minutes later the roadster was swinging into a country road.

CHAPTER XXXVII

The girl's shoulder touched Jim's. She was sitting low in the roadster, leaning back, chin raised to the wind. The faint odor of perfume reached his nostrils. He stole a glance at the pale, clear-cut profile. Marcia's lips were like a flash of crimson. He could just see the gold of her hair beneath the hat brim.

"Where are we going?" Marcia asked without glancing up.

"Nowhere," Marcia, we can't go on like this. You shouldn't have telephoned me this afternoon and I ought not to have left the office. Don't you see it's dangerous?"

"Dangerous?" Perhaps Marcia Phillips was pleased with the word. She did not speak for several moments. Then she said, "All right. You'd better turn around and take me back."

Jim drove as though he had not heard. It isn't just to-day I'm talking about," he said. "We've been seeing too much of each other, Marcia. You know Forest City as well as I do. Some one will say something one of these days and then the whole town will start. You know what they'll say. It's a fine one to let you in for a lot of malicious gossip."

"Are you thinking of me, Jim?"

"I'm thinking of all of us, you and Gypsy." The name slipped from her unconsciously and he looked slightly embarrassed. "Oh, you know yourself it's the right thing!" he wound up weakly.

"It's mostly because of her, isn't it?" Marcia asked slowly. "Do you think she suspects anything?"

"That's not the point, Marcia. It's the wrong look of the thing—where we're driving!"

"But if she doesn't know she can't be hurt, can she?" Marcia persisted.

"No one must be hurt!" he said firmly. "Why, this sort of thing can lead—anywhere. I see it in court every day. Tragedies. Misunderstandings. It's playing with fire. We can't do it, Marcia."

The girl's face was averted. They had turned from the broad, state highway into an unpaved cross-road. On either side stretched farm land with here and there a weather-beaten house. The dwellers in those homes were not prosperous. Fences sagged drunkenly and chickens fled with shrill squawks at the approach of the roadster.

Marcia looked at the surroundings with obvious distaste. "I suppose you're right," she said after a pause. "I'll have to go away."

"But I don't want you to do that. There's no need for it!"

The girl turned then and looked at him. She smiled, but there was an infinite pathos behind that smile. "Oh, my dear!" she said. "It's the only way. I'll go away and you can forget me. That will be best."

"I'll never forget you, Marcia. You know that."

They rode in silence for several minutes. The frown remained between Jim Wallace's eyes. Presently the girl said, "Well, it's settled. I'm going. I don't know where but I'm going away. Do just this one thing for me, Jim! Let's drive to the Ledges. We're nearly half way there, anyhow. I want this last afternoon together to be something to remember."

Wallace glanced at the sky. The sun had been hidden from view all afternoon. In the west the clouds were darkening.

Synthetic Love Proves Ninety Per Cent Real

By ROBERT GRANDON

Oodles and oodles of real romance found inception on the floor of the studio. A fact which was brought to my attention the other noon as we met for luncheon at the Brown Derby. . . . The romance of Leslie Fenton and Ann Dvorak, with the attendant breach-of-promise action, the conversation.

"Do you know," somebody said, "their romance was one of holidays. They were introduced on New Year's Eve. Next they met on the set on St. Valentine's Day. Then they flew to Yuma and wed on St. Patrick's Day."

"Yes, and don't forget that their love affair started when they were screen-lovers, as have so many other romances," was the retort.

LESLIE FENTON and ANN DVORAK flew to Yuma to wed

JUNIOR FAIRBANKS and JOAN CRAWFORD middle-aged to set to church

Which is quite true. John Barrymore fell in love with Dolores Costello when they played in "The Sea Beast." It was after William Powell and Carole Lombard were together in "Man of the World" that she decided she loved him. When "The Virtuous Sin" was being done Kay Francis said "yes" to Kenneth Merriam. . . . and Harold Lloyd fell for Mildred Davis when she played his kenna.

Joan Crawford and Doug (Junior) Fairbanks middle-aged in the studio and went right on to the church. The picture was "Our Modern Maidens." Sally Eilers galloped like her fury through westerns until Harold Gideon caught up with her and took her away to his ranch.

Jimmy Dunn announced his engagement after "Dance Team" . . . it was June Raitch, whom he had met when she doubled in some of the scenes. . . . Donald Dillaway and Dorothy Jordan have been pairing it since "Min and Bill." And Wesley Ruggles wed Arlette Judd after directing her in a picture.

And there are several other romances budding in a like way. . . . though they may fall and wither before long, they are too incipient, as yet, to report.

Would you like to try the Favorite Recipes of Famous Stars? If so, Robert Grandon will send you an illustrated leaflet containing these if you will send 2 cents in stamps, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

sort of thing! No matter how harmless it seems it's wrong. . . . Presently she raised eyes that were wistful, adoring. "Tell me," he voice was a whisper. "If it weren't for hurting her—would you care the same way? Would you, Jim?"

Jim snuffed out his cigarette. He was not looking at the girl. "I'll always be fond of you," he told her. "I haven't the right to be anything else."

"I'll never forget that," she told him solemnly. "It's going to help a lot." Suddenly she buried her head against his shoulder, her arms clinging to him. "Oh, Jim," the girl cried, "I love you. I love you so much!"

His arms were around her. Her warm nearness was a challenge. He held her closely. Then Marcia lifted her head and Jim's lips crushed hers in a long kiss.

They looked at each other, then Jim's face was drained of color. "We'd better go back," he said. "I've told you."

LAW BROKEN BY DANCE HALLS

Nanaimo District Operators Fined Nominal Sums By Police Magistrate Potts

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, May 4.—Magistrate Potts yesterday found Mrs. Ingham, operator of Lantzville Hall, and Charles Marsh, operator of Harewood Hall, guilty of operating dance halls after Saturday midnight, and fined them the minimum of $1 and $2 costs.

He said it was a direct scheme to evade the Lord's Day Act. The dancers at Lantzville were turned out at midnight, but were given passes to return and dance. The operator closed the doors at Harewood at midnight, and dancers present were thereafter termed guests of the orchestra, who claimed they were only having an orchestra rehearsal.

Sgt. Russell prosecuted on behalf of the Attorney-General, who recently issued an edict closing all district dance halls at midnight on Saturdays.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Jackie Bow Wow

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along over the fields and through the woods, wondering what sort of an adventure he would have, he heard a rustling in the bushes.

"Dear me," exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, hiding behind a stump. "I hope this isn't the Fox, who didn't know me when I was all black, like coal, from cleaning Nurse Jane's stove. I've washed the black off and he'll be sure to know me now. I do hope it isn't the Fox!"

Looking carefully out from behind the stump, Uncle Wiggily saw nothing of the Bad Chap. Instead he heard some one laughing.

"That doesn't sound like any of the Bad Chaps," thought Mr. Longears. "It's so jolly." He looked out a little.

He sat nibbling farther and then he saw Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy. Jackie was dancing around on his hind legs, his tail going bobby bobby bab, and he was laughing and saying:

"Oh, I'm lucky! Oh, what good luck!"

"What happened, Jackie?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he hopped out from behind the stump and walked toward the puppy.

"I found two big, juicy bones for me to gnaw," barked Jackie. "I was just digging around in the dirt for fun, you know, and I found these two juicy bones. Oh, what good luck for me!"

"And good luck for your brother Peetie, too, I suppose," said Uncle Wiggily, sitting down on a mossy green log.

"What do you mean—good luck for Peetie?" asked Jackie. "Peetie isn't here with me. I'm all alone and I found the two bones all by myself."

"Oh, did you?" asked Mr. Longears with a funny little twinkle of his pink nose. "Well, there are two bones and there is only one of you, so I thought that if you had one bone for yourself there would be one for Peetie. I could take it to him if you don't want to carry it. And I guess you couldn't very well carry two bones in your mouth."

"No, I couldn't," Jackie agreed. "But I won't have to carry them."

"What are you going to do, then?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "What about Peetie's bone?"

"Peetie isn't going to have any bone," growled Jackie. "I found the two bones all by myself. I am going to eat one now and I'll give the other and come back to get it when I'm hungry again. Peetie has nothing to do with either of these bones."

"Oh," said Uncle Wiggily. "I see, and once more he twinkled his pink nose, only this time he did it upside down."

Jackie lay down on the ground and, holding one bone between his paws, he began to gnaw it and break off little pieces, which he swallowed. For dogs are different from cats. We can eat bones, but dogs can't, and it's a good thing, else there would be so many bones in the world that they would get in the way of automobiles.

So Jackie gnawed one of his bones, while the other lay on the grass near him. It did not take the puppy long to eat the bone and then he cleaned his face by licking it with his red tongue for a napkin and after stretching and yawning he said:

"Now, I'll hide my other bone until to-morrow."

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily. Then, slowly, the rabbit gentleman took from his pocket two lollypops. Count them—two. One that he hid in his pocket. Uncle Wiggily began slowly to eat. The other he put on the log beside him and said: "I'll eat this one lollypop now and the other I'll hide for to-morrow. I am not hungry enough to eat two lollypops at once, so I'll hide one."

Jackie looked hungrily at the lollypop on the log. It was a chocolate one and the little puppy was especially fond of chocolate lollypops. But Uncle Wiggily never said a word. He just sat there on the log, nibbling and sucking his own orange lollypop, while the extra one lay on the log beside him.

Jackie licked his teeth with his tongue. Though he had had plenty to eat from that one bone, still a bit of something sweet, like a lollypop, would taste very good.

All of a sudden the little puppy dog went to where he had hidden the second bone. He dug it up and said: "Good-by, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Where are you going?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I'm going to take this other bone to my brother Peetie," bravely barked Jackie. "Good-by!"

"Good-by!" called Uncle Wiggily as Jackie started away. "Come back. Take this other lollypop. And here is an extra one for Peetie to eat after he gnaws the bone you're going to give him."

Then Jackie laughed and Uncle Wiggily laughed and so did Peetie when he saw his bone and lollypop. And now if the sugar bowl will put some talcum powder on the licorice drops to make them look like marshmallows, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Peetie Bow Wow.

A Few Hints From Any Husband to Any Wife: Don't Stop Being a Lady Love Because You've Become a Wife; Don't be All Mother and No Wife; Don't Hang Your Family About My Neck; Don't Nag Me!

ANY bridegroom to any bride: Don't throw away the bait with which you caught me as soon as we are married. Husbands are poor fish, but as long as their wives keep dangling the same pretty painted fly before their eyes they will rise to it.

Don't disillusion me by showing me the mysteries of your toilet. That is your own trade secret, and I want to live with you for forty years without finding out whether God gave you your complexion, or you bought it at the drug store.

Don't keep all your good clothes and your pretty ways for company. I want to feel that you consider me of enough importance to put your best foot foremost for me.

Don't cease being a Lady Love just because you have become a wife. Men are the romantic and sentimental sex and if wives would flirt with their husbands more at home there wouldn't be so many men having affairs abroad.

Don't stop telling me that you love me. Being heart-hungry is not an exclusively feminine complaint. Men starve for affection just as often as women do.

Don't cut out the flattery. The real reason I married you was because you led me to believe that I had at last found a woman who was capable of appreciating how big and strong and wonderful I am.

Don't let me ever see that you regard me simply as a cash register. It is a knockout blow to a man to find out that he is nothing but a meal ticket to his wife, and that she married him because she thought it would be easier to work him than it would be to work a typewriter or stand behind a counter.

Don't be one of the women who are all mother and no wife and who never see their husband again as a man after the first baby comes.

Don't let Junior put my nose completely out of joint when he comes. You have no idea how jealous a man can be of his children or how it hurts his vanity when his wife finds a little red-faced, squalling infant more interesting than he is.

Don't treat me as if I had no right in the home except to pay the bills. Give me a run for my money and, at least, a closet that I can call my own and a place where I can smoke without being told that I am smelling up the curtains.

Don't neglect to feed me well if you expect me to be a go-getter. When a man marries he turns over his stomach as well as his heart to his wife and her cooking determines whether he will be a nervous wreck at fifty or going strong.

Don't try to make me over and interfere with all my habits and tastes. If you don't like me as I am, for pity's sake leave me alone.

Don't tell me of my faults and what a poor, weak creature I am. I get all the howling out in the outside world I can stand and when I come home I want my wife to plaster up the abrased spots in my vanity with a healing poultice of flattery.

Don't always be throwing up other men and telling me how much money A makes and how beautifully B dresses and how C loves parties. Nothing infuriates a man so much as thinking his wife admires some other man more than she does him.

Don't hang your family around my neck. I didn't marry your mother and your father and your little sisters and brothers.

Don't have some member of your family perpetually camped in the guest room. A man likes his home and his wife to himself occasionally.

Don't always be quoting mother to me as the final authority and telling me that mother said we should do this and mother said we shouldn't do that. Every man resents her mother's influence over his wife.

Don't throw away the money I earn. I don't want to be niggardly with you, but unless we get off on the right foot when we are married and save something in the next few years we will be poor to the end of the chapter.

Don't throw cold water on all of my plans and aspirations and take all the gimp out of them. A wife can kill her husband's faith in himself so completely that he is beaten before he ever attempts to do anything.

Don't feel that I am neglecting you because I don't send you flowers and candy and take you out as often as I used to before we were married. I wasn't paying for your food and clothes and lodging then and I had more money for foolishness.

Don't turn a deaf ear to me when I try to talk to you and interrupt my best story to say: "Oh, see how cute the kitten is acting." Every man has to have some woman to listen to him, some woman to whom he can boast of his triumphs and to whom he can bemoan his misfortunes, some woman who will understand him, and if not his wife, then another.

Don't nag me. Say a thing once and let it ride. Even a male worm turns when it is trodden on every day.

Don't be a quitter. Don't run back to mother or off to Reno because marriage is full of work and worry and sacrifices and because I am just a human man instead of a Fairy Prince. Let's stand together, shoulder to shoulder and fight the good fight, and we will win out. DOROTHY DIX.

Speeding Around Africa

IN—CROSSING NIGERIA

The king of Lokoja greets us pleasantly. He is much interested in our airplane, and puts his hands on various parts of the wings as if to try to learn what they are made of. He has seen two or three airplanes in the course of his life, but they were high overhead. Now he can look over one of the white man's birds close at hand.

High grain storehouses in Angola

Lokoja is a city of 10,000 people, in the northern part of Nigeria. This negro king is ruler of the place in a sense, but he remains in power at the pleasure of the British—who own Nigeria.

The king can speak some English words, and he invites us to pay a visit to his palace. He points proudly to his ancient Ford car, and says that we can ride with him to his home.

We thank the king for his kind offer, but tell him that we are in such a hurry that we cannot accept, adding that we must reach Angola this very day.

Bidding good-bye to the friendly natives, we return to the airplane and soon are zooming southward again. Nigeria is larger than France and Great Britain combined, but our trip is very fast and we eat up the miles at a great rate. Banty says that we are going 175 miles per hour. Below us stretches a broad green valley, the valley of the Niger river. This mighty river flows into the Gulf of Guinea. During the thousands of years it has been flowing, it has built up a great delta which rivals the delta of the Nile.

Soon we pass over the Cameroonian mountains, and realize that we are not a great distance from the equator. Two hours later our instruments show us that we are right on the line of the equator; and I remind you of the little boy who told his teacher, "The equator is a menagerie lion who goes around the earth."

We do not see either a lion or a lion beneath us though the jungle of this part of Africa contains plenty of lions and other wild animals.

The next important event is going over the Congo river. At the point we cross it, it is fully a mile wide; but we make the distance in less than a minute. I suppose that the black folks along the river banks are looking up at us with mouths wide open.

Beyond the Congo river is the border of Angola, a colony owned by Portugal. Our pilot spies a flat field near a village, and takes us to the ground. In the village we see low, one-story huts, but near the huts are objects which look like beehives on high posts. We learn that these are storehouses for grain.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1932

Astrologers read this as an uncertain day. It is a time to plan wisely and to act discreetly.

While in the early morning hours initiative should be fairly successful the temptation to take risks should be avoided. Under this planetary government trouble regarding the products of American farm lands appear to be pressed.

Differences of opinion among legislators regarding who desire to aid business and commercial conditions are forecast. This away appears to be more auspicious for preparation than for actual accomplishment. Careful ventures are likely to succeed amazingly. Science now comes under a rule of the stars that promises great achievement. Hit or miss policies in business are to be superseded by organization that balances supply and demand, astrologers predict.

Women at this time should relinquish as far as possible the activities that are fatiguing. The stars seem to encourage concentration on home interests.

This is a period which should mean to women the sort of work that produces joy.

building new homes and for refurbishing old houses. This is not a fortunate day for those who seek employment, but it should be lucky in so far as it offers opportunities to plan one's future.

When a man or woman knows what vocation belongs to him by reason of special talents or training half the battle against unemployment is won, she declares.

While this configuration prevails persons in high places have reason to dread undermining intrigues and influences.

This is a day when the wise man or woman knows his friends and discovers who are his enemies. The stars seem to incite envy and jealousy.

Building activities in thirty-one cities of Switzerland were greater last year than in 1930.

Children born on this day probably will be high-minded and serious. The subjects of this sign usually are studious and painstaking.

Miss Florence Beeler, Assist-

Much Charm

By G. J. D.
The Arion Club, the senior of all local choral organizations, was heard yesterday evening at the Royal Victoria Theatre in its second concert of the season. This group of male voices has a large following and there was again an excellent turnout of musical people.

The programme on this occasion was the more ambitiously inclined, and while the singing had expressive significance and attack and release were equal to its vocal standards and were quite well attained, there were times when the going seemed somewhat heavy, and in consequence there were deviations in pitch, especially noticeable in John H. Brewer's "The Gift of Music" in spite of the climaxes in the last verse was splendidly accomplished.

The other number where pitch and "going" were expected was the conductor's "Bedouin Song" (Arthur Poole). Here again the club rose to stirring choral heights, as it did in its chief number "The Last Chieftain" (Homer N. Bartlett), where the vocal parts may have been more clearly defined in the second verse, the final climax, "Fare Ye Well, Hillsides and Valleys" was excellent and the tenor solo well taken by Thomas Kelway, and this last verse had to be repeated.

One of the most enjoyed numbers and here was the club on old well-known grounds, was the rollicking "Mulligan Musketeers" (by request), which had both wit and infection. Another equally enjoyable number was the "Convivial Song" by Dr. Arpe, where one of the singers takes upon himself to conduct his fellows with all the affluence and mastery of the regular conductor. This was realistically performed by Seymour White, who also sang the baritone part, and so amused, "Bibamus" Bibe Totum Extra, that its repetition was inevitable.

been taken in the matter of color and contrasting effects, and perhaps, has the club never better accomplished the singing of the pianissimo. These were splendid and highly commendable in the opening number "Foresters, Sound the Cheerful Horn" (Bishop), "Knowledge" (Clarence C. Robinson), in which the second verse was a fine performance; in Hatten's "Stars of the Summer Night," particularly effective in "She Sleeps, My Lady Sleeps," and in the "Ave Maria" (Frank Abt), tenor solo by George Guy.

Another excellent effort was in Hammond's "The Dawn," where a piano effect at "Not Yet in Quiet Lie" was a perfect ensemble.

Frank Sehl, the club's honorary conductor, directed with ample proofs of careful rehearsal and the members are to be congratulated on their consistently active endeavors in the choral life of the city.

FLORENCE BEELER
Florence Beeler, a well-known western mezzo-soprano, was the assisting artist. On a previous occasion, when Miss Beeler sang for the club, her vocal artistry gained recognition, and again yesterday evening her real singing style, lovely voice and warmth of feeling gained many friends and complete success.

She sang two groups, the first, Liszt's most popular lieder song (a) "Die Lorelei," (b) "Song of Solomon" (Bilas), (c) the aria, "Voce di Donna," from "La Gioconda," and gave two short numbers on her return to the platform, "The Statue" and Amy Worth's nicely written "Midsummer Song." The second group, which also pleased so well that two further numbers had to be augmented, one to the audience, the other addressed to the "Careless Lady," a new comedy, opened this afternoon at the Empire Theatre. It has nothing of the slapstick about it, but is said to maintain a steady flow of laughs through clever situations and brilliant dialogue. Joan Bennett and John Boles head a notable cast.

The story deals with the plight of Sally Brown, a small-town girl who craves adventure instead of being taken for the wife of a well-known man, is dismissed in court.

This accident gives her the idea of going abroad as a Mrs. instead of as a Miss because of the greater advantages in having a matrimonial status. So Sally takes the name of "Mrs. Stephen Illington," and departs for the Rue de la Paix, where her money makes her a sensation.

singers, "The Sunrise Call" (Trozer), "Cry of Rachel" (Salter); one of Kennedy Fraser's arrangements, "The Serenade of the Land-under-waves," a Hebridean folk song, and Rachmaninoff's "Flores de Spring." In this and in the first group, the accompaniments, some of which were of no mean order, were in the capable hands of the club's accompanist, Mrs. Clifford Wain, who also accompanied the club numbers.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Constance Bennett, brilliant star of "Lady With a Past," this week's attraction at the Capitol Theatre, is the eldest of Richard Bennett's three daughters. She was born in New York. Her early education was in New York and later in finishing school in Paris. At seventeen, she was one of the most popular debutantes in Baltimore and Washington. Constance concurred with her mother's wish, that she keep away from the stage.

However, at an Equity ball, Samuel Goldwyn recognized her as a good screen type and offered her a role in "Cytherea." She was a success in her role and subsequently went out to Hollywood and freelanced for the big companies. Her appearance in "Sally, Irene and Mary" brought her a starring contract with M.G.M.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

James Cagney, the fast-action star, who is at the Columbia Theatre to-day in "Taxi," a Warner Bros. and Vitaphone picture is supported for the first time by beautiful Loretta Young. The contrasted personalities of the two favorites of fandom proves the fine judgment of those who cast them for the parts of fighting Matt Nolan and Sue Reilly.

This evening at 9 o'clock there will be fifteen minutes of vaudeville on the stage. In future this will be a Wednesday evening feature.

Just taste these sun-brown flakes! They're full of the famous flavor of Pep — the matchless taste that makes PEP Bran Flakes the best you ever ate. Full of whole-wheat nourishment too. And with just enough bran to be mildly laxative. Great for kids, for grown-ups, for everybody. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

ESQUIMALT TO BE PLANE BASE

Seaplanes Will Use Float Near Canteen Grounds; Inner Harbor Base Prohibited

The harbor at Esquimalt will be the base for the seaplanes which will be operated between Victoria and Vancouver this season by the Canadian Airways Limited. It was learned here yesterday afternoon. Because of instructions from Ottawa, received here by Harbor Master George Kirkendall, commercial planes, operating on regular schedule, are prohibited from using the inner harbor. This ruling has forced the company to use Esquimalt.

A float is now being constructed at the foot of Canton Road, between the Canteen Grounds and the Yarrow plant, where the planes will land. The Gray Line will act as the agents in Victoria and will look after reservations, tickets and schedules. The cars of the fleet will be used for transporting the passengers between the city and Esquimalt.

It is expected the new service will get under way about May 15 with two round trips a day between Victoria and Vancouver. It has not yet been announced if a Victoria-Seattle service will be added, but it is expected such a service will be started later in the season. The plane to be used on the run is now on its way across Canada.

The Canadian Airways Limited is controlled by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. Last year the planes used the float immediately in front of the Parliament Buildings. It was after they had ceased operation for the season that word came through prohibiting the use of the inner harbor as a base for a regular air-line. The small plane and visiting planes will still be allowed to use the float in front of the Empress Hotel and the Government Buildings.

FINDS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Inquest To-day on James L. Washington, Young Motorcyclist Killed Sunday

James Lawrence Washington, killed in the collision of a motorcycle with an automobile on Rock Crusher Hill, Saanich, Sunday, may be found to have died accidentally, according to the verdict at an inquest before Coroner E. C. Hart in S. J. Curry and Sons' funeral parlour this morning.

Herbert Jubb, the youth who was riding behind young Washington, the driver of the motorcycle, was unable to appear at the inquest, as he is still in the Jubilee Hospital covering from his injuries. The jurors decided that a postponement of the inquest to hear his testimony was not necessary.

Douglas Fletcher, the driver of the automobile, was the subject of the condition that it would not be used elsewhere. G. H. Sedger and Roy Munzer, lawyers, appeared for him and asked a number of questions.

HAD TO SWERVE

According to the evidence of witnesses, the car, traveling uphill, had to swerve to miss a young man and woman walking on the side of the road. Toward the corner of the road it reached the corner at the same time as the motorcycle. The motorcycle rushed into the left side of the automobile and young Washington's head hit the front seat of the automobile.

The road at the point was not very busy, said Chief John Symke of Oak Bay. There were no sidewalks, but the motorcycle had nine feet of road to themselves.

A garage and bushes on the corner at the left side of the road obstructed his view of traffic coming down the hill. Mr. Fletcher pointed out in his evidence.

Dr. Arthur Nash, who attended the case at the hospital and testified that the death boy's skull was fractured in several places, that there were a number of lacerations and that death was due to shock and brain injuries. Erick Briggs, who was driving about thirty feet behind the motorcycle, John Foubister, one of the pedestrians, Mrs. Fletcher, who was with her husband in the front seat of the automobile, Edna Profit, who was a passenger in the back seat, and Constable Robert Smith, of Oak Bay, and George Hart, who was in an automobile behind Mr. Fletcher, gave evidence.

Billie Inglis, Clever 14-year-old Pianist, Discovered By Harold Samuel

Festival Adjudicator Admires Playing of Local Boy; Want Him to Go to England

Impressed by the musical talent of Billie Inglis, 14 Wildwood Avenue, fourteen-year-old contestant in the Victoria Musical Festival, Harold Samuel, noted British pianist and adjudicator, has taken a personal interest in the boy, whom, he believes, possesses all the attributes of a genius.

Mr. Samuel was first impressed by Billie Inglis at the musical festival here last year when he took first prize as piano soloist. He took second place in duet work both last year and also this year.

Mr. Samuel claims that Billie possesses the artistic temperament and the soul for music, so essential to a successful pianist.

OLE OLSEN IS VISITOR HERE

Comedy Team-mate of Johnson on R-K-O Circuit Is Renewing Acquaintance

Going to Hollywood With Partner to Produce Series of Screen Featurettes

Wedging in a talking picture contract in between jumps on a transcontinental vaudeville tour, Ole Olsen, scintillating partner of Chick Johnson, in the Radio-Keith-Orpheum jesting team of Olsen and Johnson, stopped off in Victoria to-day on his way to Hollywood.

With him is J. Griffin of Detroit, the company manager. Mrs. Griffin, and Addie Guttman of Seattle. They arrived in a big royal blue sixteen-cylinder Cadillac car, piloted by Charles Jones.

The comedian is at the Empress Hotel to-day and plans to leave tomorrow afternoon by the regular boat for Seattle to fill a vaudeville engagement.

Chick Johnson is expecting an interesting event in his family and hurried to his home in Santa Monica, Calif. He is due back in Seattle on Friday and Ole says he will be there if he has time to take to the air.

$65,000 GATE

"In Chicago," said Olsen, "we drew a $65,000 gate in seven days. On the surface of things it would appear that the depression was past, but it is not. Everybody is sitting tight, awaiting the turn, and we are doing our best to help them to get through it. No matter how difficult the times may be, the people are always ready to be amused. Surely that is a good sign!"

"Where are we going from here? On to Hollywood, where Johnson and I are due to appear in a series of featurettes for the screen. These comedy featurettes are taking the place of the double bill in the talkie theatres. Hence our visit to Hollywood."

These featurettes are something new for Olsen and Johnson, but they are never at a loss in providing the necessary comedy to put anything over.

They went over big in the screening films "Fifty Million Frenchmen," "Gold Dust Gertie" and "Wholesaler Behave."

The team of fun makers came on here from St. Louis, the big hop being accounted for by the fact that Olsen had memories of Victoria when he played over the Pantages circuit in 1917, and was impelled by an overpowering desire to see how the city had stepped out in the intervening space of time.

The sixteen-cylinder car which Ole Olsen packs about the country is carried on the long hop in a special railway car, and invariably a similar model owned by Chick Johnson is parked alongside.

Olsen at first entertained an idea of flying to Seattle, but on considering the car, he changed his mind. He went out to Colwood this afternoon to sample the golfing facilities here.

PRAIRIE FARM AREAS HAVE RAIN

Canadian Press

Lethbridge, Alta., May 4.—Rain along the southern border of Alberta to-day stopped all seeding operations as far north as Barons and Claresholm. The rain extended from the Rocky Mountains to the Saskatchewan border.

News from southwestern Saskatchewan was indicated, "last hour" intermittent light rain had fallen in the Shaunavon district.

About 40 per cent of the wheat in southern Alberta is sown, and from 15 to 20 per cent of the sugar beets. Some early sown spring wheat is now five inches above the ground.

The Calgary and other central parts of the province were basking in sunny weather to-day and farmers were back on the land after the interruption caused by the snow and rainstorm of two weeks ago. With plenty of moisture in the ground, prospects point to a bumper crop.

Hollywood, Calif., May 4.—The Masons' Washington Memorial is nearly complete and will be dedicated May 12 at ceremonies attended by President Hoover. Washington himself, however, insisted that the Capitol be built on the other side of the Potomac.

Toilers Nose Out Trojans In Opening Basketball Game

Basket In Dying Moment of Battle Beats Saint John

Silverthorne Drops in Goal Which Gives Winnipeg First Victory in Two-out-of-three-game Series for Canadian Men's Senior Basketball Championship; Easterners Show Great Strength, Though Not as Smooth as Westerners

St. John, N.B., May 4.—Striving to win their first Dominion basketball championship St. John Trojans lost out by only two points yesterday evening in the first match of the series with Winnipeg Toilers for the Canadian title. The Toilers won by 39 to 37. Whether or not they can repeat their victory at the second game to-morrow night was the big question to-day. If not, a third game Saturday will be necessary.

Toilers were conceded to have the smoothest playing machine. As the game opened yesterday evening their combination work seemed to leave the Trojans flat-footed. But the local players soon stepped into their fighting form and at the end of the first half the teams were deadlocked with nineteen points each. The play proceeded at a furious rate, both sides running neck and neck. With the score tied, 37 to 37, Silverthorne tossed the decisive field goal for Winnipeg.

While the Toilers display superiority in the finer points of the game, Trojans had the advantage of weight and a dauntless spirit. In important matches this season the St. John team has always played better when under a handicap and for this reason Trojan supporters look for a victory to-morrow night.

SILVERTHORNE BRILLIANT

At Silverthorne, right guard for Winnipeg, played brilliantly. He secured ten points, tying the total gained by Joe Dodds, the Toilers' left forward. Andrew "Buck" Malcolm, rugged Trojan captain, played his usual excellent game, although closely guarded, and accounted for twelve points. The same number was scored by Patterson, St. John's right forward.

Both teams alternated as scoring leaders in one of the fastest and most hotly contested games ever seen here. Time and again one side shot into the lead, only to relinquish it in a matter of seconds. With a half nearly over and both squads tied 37-37, Toilers took possession of the ball and Silverthorne shot the winning field goal.

In the opening minutes of the game Toilers fooled St. John, with perfect combination work and easily ran up ten points. But as the play proceeded there was little to choose between the two teams. Toilers gave a more finished exhibition in the second half, but by the fighting spirit displayed by their heavier opponents.

Toilers—Shea, rf (6); Walkey, rf (12); Dodds, lf (10); Phillips, c (6); Silverthorne (10); Thorogood, rg (2); Rogers, rf (7); Burgess, rf (2).

Trojans—Wittien, lf (2); Patterson, rf (12); Ferris, lf (10); Wilson, lf (5); Malcolm, c (12); Hollies, rg (2).

Referee and umpire—Ted Coffey, Fredericton, and Jack Piers, Moncton, N.B.

GRAPPLERS TO PRESENT WARES

Local Mat Experts to Clash in City Championships This Evening

Victoria grapplers will show their wares this evening at the Tillamook gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock when contests will be held for the Gibson and Colman Cups. A large crowd of fans is expected to witness the many interesting bouts for the city championships.

One of the feature bouts of the evening will be between Young Ernie Arthur and Young Des Anderson for the lightweight championship, sixty-five pounds, and the Colman Cup, presented by J. R. Matson. There will be four five-minute rounds.

Four young grapplers, Johnny Masterson, Pat Fox, Reg Hopkins, and Reg Hopkins, will tangle in the light-weight class for the Gibson trophy. The two winners among the four will then meet in the final. The rounds in these bouts will also be four in number and of five minutes duration. Bernie Olsen and Dave Elliott will clash in the 135-pound event, and it is expected the bout will go all of the four rounds.

The main event of the evening is six five-minute rounds between Baptiste Thomas and Pat Fox in the 185-pound class. Johnny Deane will be the arbitrator in the ring for all bouts.

Canadian Boys Win Pennsylvania Relay

Philadelphia, May 4.—Canadian schoolboys scored a notable triumph yesterday, when the brilliant quartette from Hamilton Collegiate Institute won the intercollegiate relay from forty rival teams in record carnival time at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival.

The Hamilton quartette, consisting of Fred Shaver, Ed Burrow, M. Downe and Earle Moore, negotiated the aggregate distance of one and seven-eighths miles in 7:47.4 to displace the mark of 7:48.5, set by Lakewood (Ohio) High School in 1929.

Shaver gave the Canadian boys a thirty-yard lead on the first half-mile and his mates added steadily to it. The anchor runner, Moore, broke the tape fully sixty yards in front of his nearest rival, representing Westfield, N.J. High. It was the second straight victory for Hamilton in this event.

RACING HEADS ANNOUNCED

Tom Wellman to Act as Judge at Colwood Meeting Starting May 21

When the gee-gees start galloping at Colwood on May 21 the leather-lined face of Tom Wellman, veteran track man, will be occupying the judge's rostrum.

On the back stretch Floyd Smith will be doing the "Wes Neary" as starter, and up above the grandstand will be the chubby face of Johnny Park calling the races through the loud speaker, and also to his sheet writer, Harry Dean.

Thus a quartette of buddies will be reunited for the opening B.C. race meeting.

Races will be from 8:00 to 9:00, with a possible boost to the two o'clock on May 24, the historic holiday date. Several mainline owners will ship to this spring meeting. Fullerton has shipped his entire string, and George Slater will follow. McLennane are sending Hiram Taylor over and "Big Al" will donate a cup to the improvement of the thoroughbred.

Planes will ride for Slater and Ralph Jackson for Fullerton.

HORSES HERE

On the Island already are about 130 out-burners and Starter Smith arrived here Monday. At Colwood there has been a school for the more scandalous out post.

Colwood this spring will present practically an all B.C. meeting. Few horses will come from across the line. Ruth Parton and Doc Clark will ship from Washington.

Tom Wellman is an old-timer in turf matters. He operated at Hastings for a number of years, and there is practically no position around a track he is not capable of filling.

Opened Dominion Basketball Final In St. John Yesterday Evening

Above are the Winnipeg Toilers and St. John Trojans who battled through a torrid fixture yesterday evening in the first of a two-out-of-three-game series for the Canadian senior men's title. Toilers, working more smoothly than their rugged Maritime opponents, drew first blood with the odd basket, to win 39 to 37 in the first clash. This is the first time in history that a New Brunswick team has ever won the eastern championship, and only the second for any Maritime team, Acadia University having won it two years ago. The teams who met last night for the Dominion title are shown above. At top, Winnipeg Toilers (left to right)—R. Pearson, Joe Dodds, Bill Thorogood, Mike Shea, Al Silverthorne, Ron Burgess, Lauder Phillips, Ian Woolley (captain), and Wallace Walkey. The bottom panel shows the Trojans of St. John (left to right)—Ronald W. Shaw (coach), Don Patterson, "Die" Ferris, Larry Wittien, Ronald Brown, Henry Hollies, Alden Clark, Bob Brown, Andrew "Beet" Malcolm, centre and captain.

Favorites Advance; Miss G. Irving and Mrs. A. Gonnason in Second Flight Finals

No upsets marked the first round of the women's championship being played at the Royal Colwood Golf Club, the favorites advancing to the second round.

Mrs. F. F. Sayward-Wilson, defending champion, won easily from Mrs. H. A. Ross, 7 and 6.

Mrs. L. O. Howard was defeated 7 and 6 by Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, a former champion.

Miss G. Irving and Mrs. A. Gonnason reached the final of the second round by defeating Mrs. G. G. MacKenzie and Mrs. Heatherington.

The quarter finals for the championship are being played to-day. Yesterday's results follow:

RAIN HALTS O.C. CRICKET

Canadian Press

London, May 4.—Rain yesterday forced abandonment of play in both the first-class county cricket matches that started on Saturday.

At the Oval Surrey had rolled up a score of 359 in their first innings Saturday, while Worcester's first innings was finally completed to-day with a total of only 88 runs.

The match between Warwickshire and Middlesex was abandoned yesterday, when rain made resumption of play impossible. Scores were: Middlesex, 62; Warwickshire, 60, and twenty runs for no wickets.

Benny Leonard Scores Victory

New York, May 4.—Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, stopped Willie Garafalo of New York, in two minutes, forty-five seconds of the fourth round of their ten-round bout here Monday. Leonard weighed 152½ pounds; Garafalo 147.

Garafalo seemed awed by Leonard's reputation from the start and was content to hold most of the time during the first three rounds. Leonard opened up in the fourth and floored his rival for a count of seven and two counts of eight before the referee stepped in and halted the battle.

TO SEEK NEW BOAT MARKS

Outboard Racers to Try For World Record at Nanaimo Regatta

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 4.—Reports from Vancouver outboard racing officials who spent Sunday with representatives of Nanaimo Yacht Club, are particularly optimistic regarding the sanctioned regatta to be staged at the Island City on May 1 and 2. Nine entries have already been received from Class "C" drivers, who are out to break Guy Graham's world record of 46.210 miles per hour, made last summer at Lake Sammamish. In addition there is a possibility of three more entries in this class.

All records made in outboard events at the Nanaimo regatta will be recognized by the National Outboard Association. Engineers are surveying an official course, to be either one mile or a mile and two-thirds, situated in a perfect channel between Departure Bay and Nanaimo Harbor. The course offers exceptionally good facilities for spectators on both sides of the channel.

PRACTICE CRICKET GAME

A practice match will be played between the Victoria C.C. and the Wanderers C.C. at Work Point Barracks, Esquimalt, on Saturday next, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. All players of both teams, together with any prospective members, who care to put in an appearance, will be given a chance to play.

BELANGER TAKES COMEBACK TRAIL

Former Play-boy of Toronto Quits Bright Lights, Chops Wood and Trains; Ex-flyweight Champion Trying Now As Bantam.

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 4.—Albert (Frenchy) Belanger, play-boy of local boxing rings and a former flyweight champion of the world, is to attempt a comeback, this time as a bantamweight, within two weeks, the baby-eyed little Frenchman, once one of the greatest fighters in the world, will meet an opponent in a Toronto ring.

The story of Frenchy's decline as a fighter has many parallels. Belanger fought many a good fight, but the bright lights eventually got him. Finally Frenchy decided it was not worth the "rap."

He disappeared from his usual haunts and headed north. In the land where the wind whistles through the pines he toiled mightily. For six months he had chopped wood, heaped build roads and labored hard.

Now a little heavier, but this time with muscle, his face burned to bronze with the sun and snow and wind, Frenchy is back in town. He haunts

LOCAL BALL NINE WILL PLAY PORTS

A Victoria baseball team will be in action for the first time this year, when the Sons of Canada, stacked up against Port Angeles in an exhibition fixture across the Straits on Saturday.

The game will be one of the feature attractions in the Port for the C.P.R. excursion there. The players will leave on the Princess Charlotte at 1:30 o'clock, and take the field two hours later in the United States town.

Although they have not played together in regular games this year, the Sons expect to field a strong squad for the exhibition. Last year they divided honors with the Ports in an early season exhibition here, the visitors taking the afternoon bill, and the local the nightcap.

Lloyd Cann will start on the mound for the Sons, with Alnsley Worthington completing the battery.

Wheat Prices Gain Fractionally With Increased Exports

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, May 4.—Wheat prices advanced today on the report of the prodigious European wheat purchaser, traders stepped to the buying side of the wheat market to-day and watched the grain prices advance to 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher than yesterday's close.

May closed higher at 60 1/2; July 1 1/2 higher at 62 1/2; and October 1 1/2 higher at 64 1/2.

The session was quite active. Opening 1/2 to 1 higher on reports of export worked from the Pacific Coast.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, May 4.—Wheat: The market displayed a firmer tone to-day with prices higher throughout the session. After an early upturn of 20 cents, the market reacted to around last night's close but this was in sympathy with a decline in Chicago which broke to 1/2 under the previous close, also due to weakness in stocks. Moreover, our market came back to make new highs. At times there was a good class of buying going on that was credited to exporters and New York houses and to doubt a good amount of export business had been received overnight in different quarters.

A careful check up revealed the fact that during the past twenty-four hours that around 3,000,000 bushels of wheat had passed into the hands of exporters, including 1,500,000 bushels sold to Manchuria out of Vancouver. The continental houses were buying early, and later there was good buying by the North Grain Company.

It was stated that Russia had re-entered the world wheat market as a purchaser this morning and had taken some wheat from Vancouver and one cargo of Australian grades in the English spot market for shipment to Vladivostok. This wheat will be used in Siberia where flour needs are urgent owing to the concentration of troops army provisions and supplies there. For two of the past three weeks there has been no exports of Russian wheat via Black Sea ports and cables have stated that large supplies of Soviet wheat which had been stored at Rotterdam had been cleaned up.

New York reports the sale of durum to Germany as well as some hard winter to Europe. In the cash market there was a better demand to-day and while offerings were light and more liberal spreads were mostly fractionally better on the top grades. Country marketings in the west on Tuesday were 140,000 bushels in 29,000 a year ago.

Winnipeg closed 1 to 1 1/2 higher.

Corn: Grain—These markets were all firmer with offerings light and indication that liquidation was over for the present. New York reports some export business in barley and rye but a very small business was reflected here.

Oats: Oats closed 1/2 to 1/4 higher; barley 1/2 to 1/4 higher; rye 1/2 to 1/4 higher; flax 2 to 4 higher. Liverpool due 1/2 to 1/4 higher.

On Saturday, May 14, the steamers City of Angeles and Rosario will commence service between Sidney and Anacortes. They will operate on the same schedule as last year, leaving Sidney at 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. for Anacortes, and 1:45 p.m. for Friday Harbor. The C.P.R. ferry motor Princess will also operate out of Sidney to Stevenson. No date of her entry into this service, or her schedule has yet been released by the B.C. Coast Service. It will be about the middle of June when she is commissioned.

The ferry steamer Olympic will commence her Victoria-Bellingham-Port Angeles service on Saturday, May 28. Mr. Blackwood was also advised this morning. She will operate on the same schedule as last year, leaving here at 8 a.m. for Bellingham, returning at 4:30 p.m., and sailing at 5 p.m. for Port Angeles and returning here to spend the night. This route was commenced two years ago and has proved popular with the traveling public.

Although no definite word has yet been received here, it is expected the Indianapolis will again come to Victoria every few days with excursion parties from Seattle. Last season from early in June until September the Indianapolis came over here twice a week and each time brought between 300 and 500 excursionists. She spent the afternoon here, enabling the Seattle visitors to visit friends and make shopping expeditions.

It is expected that the C.P.R. steamer Princess Patricia will also be commissioned again this year in the day-excursion business between coast ports. She was here frequently last year from Seattle and Vancouver, and also took a number of parties from this city to neighboring points of interest.

Ss. Castlemore Believed Going to Vladivostok With Cargo of Canadian Grain

Vancouver, May 4.—The freighter Castlemore is loading a cargo of grain for an unnamed destination which is reported to be Vladivostok. Western Siberia has been reported as suffering for want of flour and there have been further reports of concentration of troops and army provisions and supplies there. A short time ago Shanghai reported that at least two shiploads of flour had been sold there for Vladivostok and there being shipped with prospects of further deals.

There has been a feeling here that if western Siberia needs grain western Canada would probably get a share in the trade.

The present shipment was sold in London and there, came a report to-day from London of the sale in Vladivostok of some Canadian grain.

The ship's destination has been variously reported as a western Mediterranean port or as Shanghai, followed later by the Vladivostok report. The ship will sail under sealed orders.

VESSELS DUE FROM EUROPE

Ms. Damsterdyk and Ss. Gracia Expected To-morrow; Ms. Pacific Grove Saturday

Dorothy Alexander Outbound To-night; Ss. Canadian Ranger Due Friday

First of the week's vessels from European ports to dock here will be the Damsterdyk of the Holland-America line, which is expected at William Head quarantine station to-morrow morning at 5 o'clock, according to word received in Victoria this morning by A. P. Moffatt, local agent from Capt. J. Stamperius, master of the ship.

The Damsterdyk will dock at Rithet piers about 7 o'clock and will proceed to Vancouver at noon. For this port she has 150 tons of general cargo and four passengers. She is from Rotterdam and London, and came here by way of the Panama Canal and California ports.

Following in the wake of the Damsterdyk up the Coast is the Donaldson freighter Gracia, which is expected from the United Kingdom and California ports to-morrow about noon. A. E. Shanks of Rithet Consolidated Limited, local agent, said this morning. The Gracia has about seventy-five tons of cargo which she will leave here before proceeding to Vancouver.

King Brothers have not as yet been advised regarding the whereabouts of the Furness motor liner Pacific Grove, scheduled to arrive here Saturday from England. She is now at California ports and will probably sail from San Francisco this evening, direct for Victoria.

From California ports, the Kingsley Navigation Company's coastal freighter Gracia is expected at Ogden Point sometime to-day. She has light cargo for this port.

It will be midnight Friday before the Canadian National freighter Canadian Ranger docks at Ogden Point from Halifax and St. John. She is now coming up the Coast from the Panama Canal.

According to word received here to-day the freighter Canadian Winger of the same fleet, has arrived at Quebec with the first lumber shipment of the present season. The ship loaded at British Columbia ports six weeks ago. She is also going to Montreal and three rivers and will return here late in June.

A new motorship for service between British Columbia ports and Europe was launched on Saturday at Amsterdam, according to word received here to-day. She is the Berganger of the Westfal-Larsen fleet, and is the first of three sister ships. The others will take the water shortly and will commence service before the end of the year. The two yet to be launched are the Moldanger and the Trondanger. Each ship will have fine accommodation for twelve passengers.

Bound from San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Dorothy Alexander, will sail from the Rithet piers to-night at midnight. She will arrive here at 10 o'clock. On board are Miss Dorothy Dunn, Mrs. H. S. Brown and Miss Brown, returning to their home in Los Angeles after visiting friends at Monte Creek, in the interior of the province; Mr. and Mrs. H. T. James of Los Angeles, who have been visiting Victoria and Vancouver since their arrival from the south last Thursday by the Ruth Alexander, and Miss Anna Wright of Victoria, going to Los Angeles for an indefinite visit.

London and there, came a report to-day from London of the sale in Vladivostok of some Canadian grain.

Duncan Is Advised Of Cricket Games

Special to The Times

Duncan, May 4.—The regular meeting of the Duncan city council was held on Tuesday evening with Mayor Prevost in the chair. A letter was received advising the council that the Australian cricketers would be playing in Victoria on June 18 and 20, and asking them to give this matter as much publicity as possible, so that as many as wished could go from Duncan and district to see the matches. A letter was also received from the Bureau of Provincial Information in regard to the forthcoming visitors from Great Britain under the guidance of W. A. McAdam.

A resolution was received from Nanaimo, which the council endorsed, in regard to the rates charged by the B.C. Telephone Company. The company claim they had permission to increase their rates in 1921 on account of the increase in cost of post-war materials and labor. The council claim that as the cost of materials and labor is now much lower than at that period, the telephone company should now reduce their rates.

An offer was received and accepted from the Duncan fire department to receive seventy-five cents per hour instead of $1.

The tax by-law 1932 was put through the final stages.

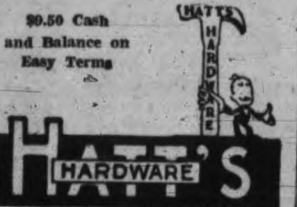

A resolution was passed urging the Department of Indian Affairs to endeavor to have a health nurse appointed to look after the Indians, in the interest of the white community

AUTO HURDLED BANK IN CRASH

Course of Death Car on Gorge Road Described; Accidental Verdict Returned

William Morgan of Langford, who died following a car crash on Eberts Hill, Gorge Road, early last Sunday morning, came to his death as the result of an accident, a coroner's jury decided yesterday afternoon after hearing of witnesses at an inquest in McCall Brothers' Funeral Home.

Coroner E. C. Hart instructed the jury to bring in an accident verdict, pointing out that, on the evidence presented, any other verdict would hardly be justified.

Charles Cotman, driver of the car in which Mr. Morgan met death, was the main witness. He is now facing a charge of manslaughter laid by the police.

TRAVELING SLOWLY
Mr. Cotman, giving evidence under the protection of the coroner, declared he was traveling about twenty-five miles an hour as he approached Harriet Road, traveling west, at the time of the crash. A car was approaching along Harriet Road, he said, at a fast rate of speed, and he (Mr. Cotman) swung over to the left side to avoid an accident. When he straightened back to the right side going down the hill the rear end of his car started to jump and the machine headed for the left side. It struck a bank as he tried to apply the brakes and then shot over to the side out of control, crashing into a hedge and finishing up against a stone pillar, where it turned over. Mr. Morgan was sitting on the right side and was crushed.

Evidence of Inspector John T. Boulton of the city police force and Constable P. K. Cummings of the Saanich force, was to the effect that the pillar struck by the car was 255 feet from the top of the hill. The car traveled 101 feet from the time it left the road until it hit the pillar, Constable Cummings said. It had hurdled an eighteen-inch bank after passing over about ten feet of gravel, and then ploughed into the hedge for about twenty-five feet before fetching up.

CLEAR NIGHT
The place where the crash occurred was very dark, being shaded by trees, although the night was fairly clear and the road dry.

Claude Sturges and Charles Chapman, occupants of a car which was traveling east at the bottom of the hill, described how they had seen the flash of Mr. Cotman's car's headlights as it left the road, but they could not estimate what speed it was traveling.

Dr. E. L. McInnes testified the main cause of death was a fractured skull which was combined with head lacerations and other injuries.

The jury deliberated about ten minutes after receiving instructions from the coroner that the evidence did not justify any other verdict than accidental death.

LIFE FORCE IS SILVER LINING

World Will Recover Through Power of Spirit, Says Prof. H. T. J. Coleman

A life force that was gradually becoming more intelligent, and therefore more spiritual, was described as the silver lining to the cloud that now hangs over the world, in an address given by Professor H. T. J. Coleman of the University of British Columbia before a joint luncheon meeting of Victoria and Vancouver Kiwanians at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday.

The meeting was headed over by President Ellis Brown to the Vancouver members and Hugo Melnick took the chair. Afterwards, golfers from the two cities engaged in a competition for the Heath Nicholson Trophy.

Professor Coleman said that periods such as the present, when suffering and hardship were the lot of many people, had a place in the scheme of things, and were all part of the great purpose of life. Happiness, he observed, would become boring if it were continual. Just the right amount of grief on a dog's back were good for the dog, because they kept him from brooding too morbidly over the fact that he was a dog.

Dr. Coleman outlined and advocated the philosophy of golf, where the spirit of the game should be worth more than the fruits of the game. It was a pity statement could not realize this. A too great selfishness was a prime cause of the depression. The philosophy of golf applied to life would teach people that life was worth living if they did their best, even if they were defeated. The appearance of the silver lining was partly psychological, Dr. Coleman observed.

Victoria's Budget is confidently expected to balance this year. That means, the collections of taxes will provide the money to pay all this year's bills.

Victoria has resolutely set herself to cut the Departmental Costs and keep the taxes down to an amount the Taxpayers can afford to pay.

Victoria is a complete City. Her permanent improvements are practically all made and there is no reason to expect any major borrowings for many years.

Victoria is probably the most highly developed city of its size on the North American Continent.
